MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

by Mufti Menk

After Motivational Moments I was launched, the social media engagement for Mufti Menk's posts on Twitter and Facebook increased significantly. When Twitter increased its word count for longer and more meaningful tweets, we had another wave of followers wanting even more.

Motivational Moments II is the second compilation of 500 of the best quotes by Mufti Menk from his social media platforms which you have liked or shared.

How you live your life is driven to a large extent by your outlook, your perspective on what happens to you and around you. Outlook on life is what makes some people who seem to have everything, miserable, and others, who seem to have nothing, happy.

Happiness isn't driven by what you accumulate or who you can impress; it is driven by your inner thoughts which are responsible for the way you react in a given situation.

This is where Mufti Menk's empowering words come in. They instil hope in people across the globe daily. His quotes touch on lessons for life. They hold powerful messages. They cut across all barriers. They are for humanity.

Motivational Moments II is filled with quotes on how we face life and life's challenges. It is a go-to for inspirational gems, spiritual wisdom and sound advice.

Remember, it all starts with your thoughts. With a new day, comes new strength and new thoughts....

Dr Mufti Ismail Menk was born in Zimbabwe to a well-respected family. He went to St John's College, one of the top schools in Zimbabwe and had set his mind on becoming an ophthalmologist.

But the Almighty had other plans for him. He went on to study Shariah in Madinah, specialised in jurisprudence and later became the Grand Mufti of Zimbabwe.

Today, Mufti Menk is one of the most prominent and prolific Islamic scholars. He has a whole list of accolades to his name. Among them, one of "The Top 500 Most Influential Muslims in the World" since 2010. He also holds a Doctorate of Social Guidance from Aldersgate University.

Millions of people follow him across all his social media platforms. He is loved and known for his engaging lectures, delivered with clarity, sound and practical approach, wit and humour which together have become the hallmark of Mufti Menk. He travels the globe extensively, lecturing to world audiences.

Mufti Menk's message is simple. Respect all, do good and reach out to others, while preparing for the Hereafter. This message resonates with all, regardless of race or religion. He engages in humanitarian and educational work extensively, often traveling to rural Zimbabwe and other parts of Africa. He takes a firm stand against terrorism, gross injustice, fanaticism, extremism and is a staunch proponent of peaceful coexistence.

HOPE

No matter how sad, depressed, confused or broken you are, always praise the Almighty. He will reward you in ways you could never imagine!

---

Not everyone will value you. But there are a few who will stand by you no matter what. They're the ones praying for you without you knowing.

---

Your hardship won't last. Your sadness won't last. Nothing lasts in this world. Every test you go through will empower you. You'll be ok!

---

If your main concern is this life, you'll often be worried and distracted. If Hereafter's your priority, He'll fill your heart with content.

Don't panic, don't be frustrated, don't worry.
You're exactly where the Almighty wants you to be at this point in time. Whatever you've experienced so far is all part of His Divine Plan.
It will shape and mould you into the person you're meant to be.

If you have a good heart, thank the Almighty.
Don't ever regret it. You may be let down by people and you'll be disappointed but no matter what happens, you'll end up the winner. He knows and sees everything.

There will always be someone who's taller, richer, better-looking with a better job and so on. We can either allow ourselves to fall into the dangerous trap of comparison, or we can choose to remember that regardless of that, we all have our own struggles. That's life. Live it!

Don't keep asking why bad things happen to good people. The Almighty has promised us that we will all be tested. He puts us through tests because He knows when you're at your lowest that you're most likely to get closer to Him.

Loss is never easy. Loss of a loved one, loss of wealth, loss of a job. All these can break your heart. But don't let it make you lose hope in the Mercy of the Almighty. Your heart will heal; it will soften. You'll draw closer to Him. You'll feel whole again.

---

Don't live in regret. The past is over. Today is a new day; you are not the same person you were before. Believe that today will be better than yesterday. It's about looking up with hope and looking forward. Look for new opportunities that the Almighty has planned for you.

Your journey is yours alone. Not everyone will understand it or like it. It's ok. Use the pain of the past for the strength you need today.

Almighty. I bring my burden to you because I can't make it on my own. Give me strength, comfort me, heal my heart and help me carry on.

---

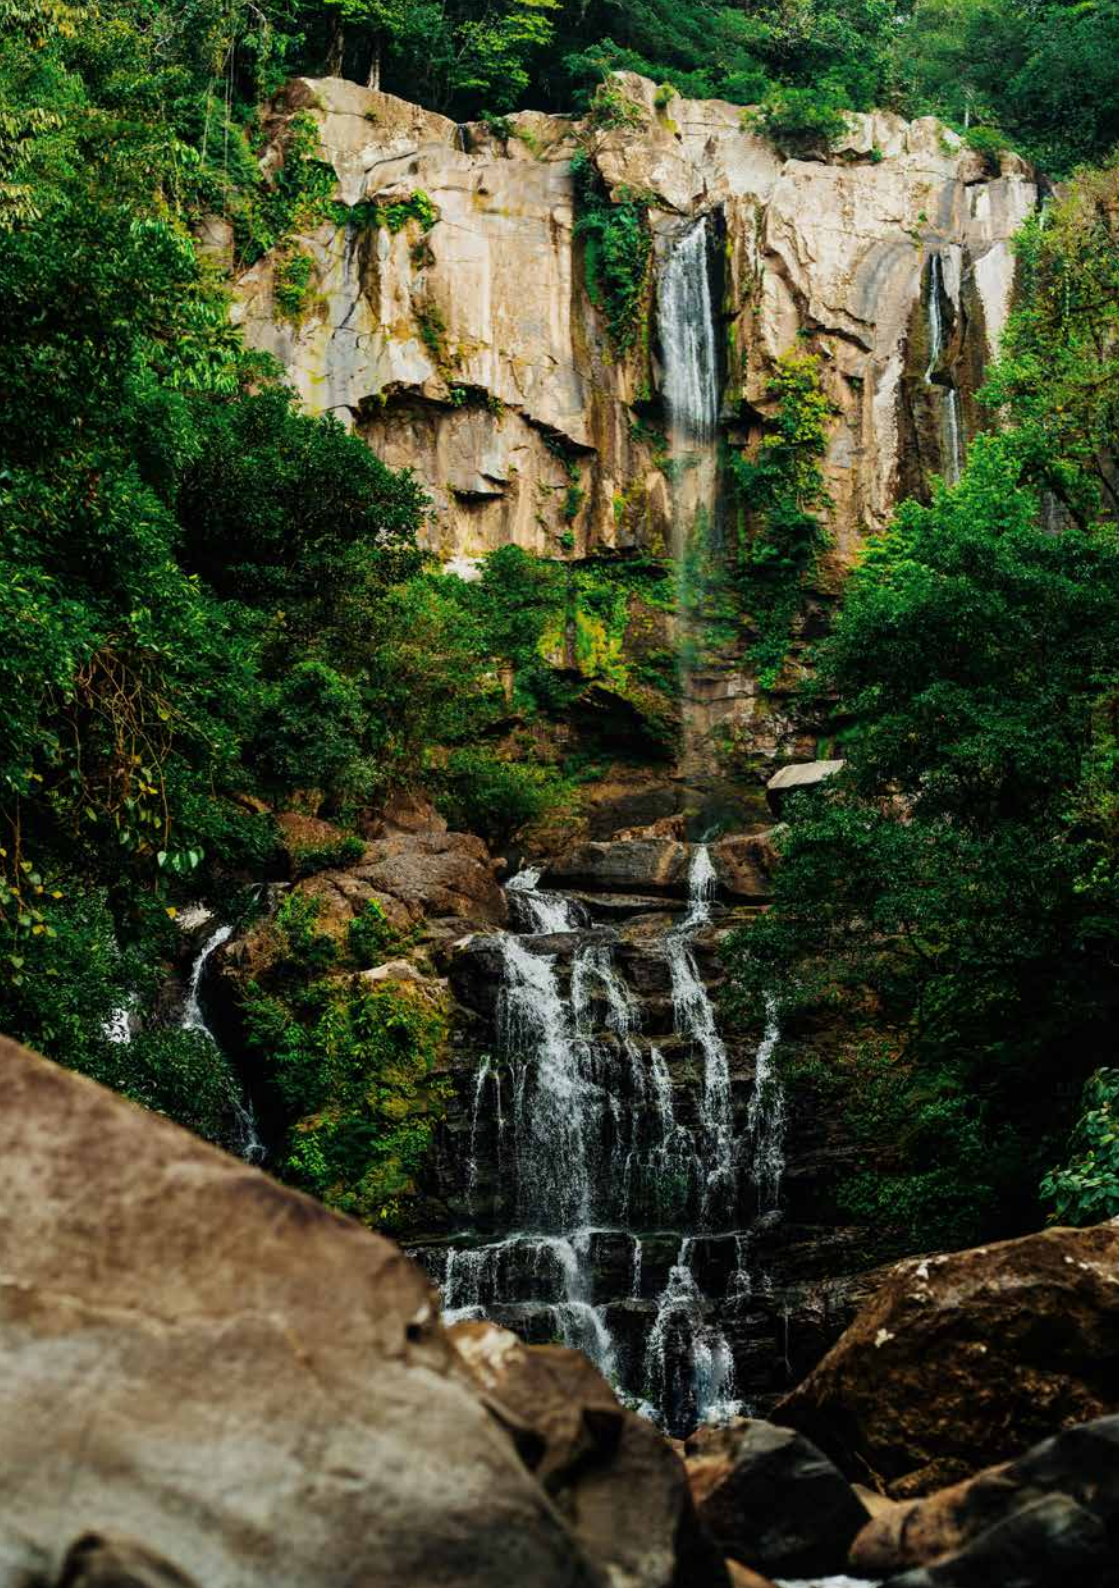

When your heart's heavy and your mind's anxious, turn to the Almighty's limitless Mercy. No matter what you're facing, He's there for you.

---

Never lose hope. It's what keeps us going. Start praying again. Start expecting again. The Almighty knows what's going on in our lives.

No matter what's happening to you, there's always hope. You've got to believe that. Choose hope over despair. Remember nothing lasts. So cling on to the hope that things will change for the better. And that change will come soon.

The truth is no matter how lonely you are, you're never alone. The Almighty is always near. Very near. He knows what you're going through. He is aware of everything. So when everyone has abandoned you, seek comfort in Him, knowing that He is always there.

---

Many of us are guilty of overthinking. Remember, the battle starts in your mind. Don't defeat yourself in your own mind before you've even started. Focus your mind in the right direction. Be positive about things. You will see the difference.

Even in your lowest moments when you're totally helpless, don't despair. The Almighty will send something your way when you least expect it.

No matter what you're facing, when it's time for you to shine, when it's time for you to excel, you will. None can stop what He wills.

---

Don't stress too much over worldly matters. Worrying about the future or regretting the past is a waste of time. Leave it to the Almighty.

---

Your hardship won't last. Your sadness won't last. Nothing lasts in this world. Every test you go through will empower you. You'll be ok!

Don't look back with regret on missed opportunities. He closed those doors for a reason. May He open doors that always lead us back to Him.

Don't feel trapped by the situation you're in. Pain, loneliness, financial woes; turn to the Almighty. He has promised a way out. Trust Him.

---

The day we enter Paradise is the day we have succeeded. None of the pain would be remembered. Pray that He grants it to us by His Mercy.

---

Whatever happens will happen. Don't try to control the outcome of everything that happens in life. The Almighty's always in full control.

Don't bring yesterday's failures into today. Learn from them. Move on. The Almighty has better things in store. Put your full trust in Him.

Don't be sad when people plot and plan against you. The Almighty is in full control. Remember, His Will is above everyone else's.

---

People will always talk, no matter what you do. Keep doing what's right. Have faith; the Almighty knows what's going on behind the scenes.

---

Worry is the biggest thief. It steals your time, energy and inner peace. Turn your worry into worship. Seek Him. You'll find your strength!

Nothing in your life happens randomly. The Almighty knows what He is doing to help you return to Him in the best way possible. You have to trust His Plan. He has planned it right to the last detail!

Life can be difficult at times. The never ending running around and stress to get things done. Don't let it make you resent your life. Learn to look at those who have less than you. Those who would trade places with you at the drop of a hat. Thank the Almighty for everything!

---

Be strong. Stay firm in faith. Face whatever the Almighty has decreed head on. Seek His Help and Protection always. Don't worry about what others say. When you come to the end of your life, you're not going to answer to people, you're going to answer to Him alone!

Pray for a heart of ease, calm and hope. Pray that the Almighty protects it from being cold and bitter. Pray that He keeps it firm in faith.

When your failure brings you closer to your Creator, that's NOT failure. That is your success. Thank the Almighty for it.

---

Whatever's going on in your life right now, never take for granted what the Almighty has done. Remember, all things happen for a reason.

---

Let's face it, we will never be able to write down every single blessing the Almighty has given us. Start being grateful. Thank Him daily.

There'll be hardship and struggle just like there's happiness and ease. It's the nature of this life. Don't let the difficult times consume you. Try to focus on the good things in life. It helps you to appreciate what you have. Above all, protect your heart and your soul!

How Merciful is the Almighty! When you commit a sin, it's recorded as one sin. If you intend to do a good deed but end up not doing it, it's still recorded as one good deed. When you actually do it, it's recorded as ten!

---

When you believe and trust that the Almighty has your back no matter what you're going through, that's faith! That's when life becomes more peaceful and less stressful because you know He will get you through the good times and bad times in life.

No matter how shattered your heart is, never lose hope. Cry to Him for as long as you need. Only He can turn tears of sadness into pure joy.

When you feel completely broken, the only thing that can heal you is connecting with the Almighty in prayer. Only He has the power to heal.

---

Never give up on hope. One day it will all come together. You'll look back on all that you've been through and thank the Almighty for it.

---

Don't let this life defeat you. We all have worries and burdens but we don't let ourselves crumble because we believe He's watching over us!

Whatever it is that you want, ask the Almighty.
Your whole life can change with supplication.
That's the most powerful tool you have. Use it.
Don't waste it. It can change your fate. Only He can give you what you want. And you'll be rewarded just for asking!

As much as the Almighty opens doors for us, He also closes them. When that happens, it takes a mature mind to say, "I don't understand it, but I'm not going to get upset because He knows what's good for me. I shall accept it. I trust Him fully."

Never forget that the Almighty is on our side. If we take a single step towards Him, He takes many steps towards us! Yes, life is hard and unfortunate things happen to us. Often we don't know why they happen. But trust Him and know that He wants good for us.

Good or bad, what you give, you'll get it back.
Just leave it to the Almighty to deal with such things. He is All-Knowing. He is Fair.

The Almighty knows what He's doing. Don't ever doubt that. He has your best interest at heart. It's part of His Plan. Trust Him fully.

Everything that happens in this life is a test. Just live your life passing the test. Should you fail, that's not the end. Get up and move on.

Nobody knows what tomorrow will bring; will you have enough money, get married or have children?
Trust Him completely. Live each day fully.

There's no life without trials and no success without patience. So the harder your test, the more hopeful you should be that His help is near.

For every trial that comes your way, the Almighty has given you strength to face it. He would never give something you couldn't handle.

---

Satan will remind you to focus on the burden and miss the blessing. The Almighty has brought you this far. Do you think He will abandon you?

---

Don't stay down when you're knocked down. Get back up again. The Almighty didn't bring you this far to leave you there all by yourself!

Learn to trust that the Almighty will work out every little detail of your life eventually. So don't worry. Keep your heart at peace.

There's a reason why He sent others away and left you alone. Tell Him your regrets, worries, fears and hopes. He's listening and ready to respond.

---

Almighty. When we start losing hope or begin to doubt ourselves, remind us that Your Plans are always better than we could ever imagine!

---

When you feel you can't get out of bed to face another day, ask the Almighty to lift you up. His Strength is all you need. Just ask Him!

When you finally see your reward in Paradise for all the pain you endured in the temporary world, you'd wish you had more of the pain at that time! No one knows what awaits us for what we used to do but the Almighty. So keep going.

Learn to view your hardships differently. See every adversity, every disappointment in a new light. They're not meant to defeat you but to draw you closer to the Almighty. They're there to make you a better person.

---

We've all had problems that we believe will never be solved because it has been too long. We feel bogged down by our own shortcomings. We begin to accept that this is how it's always going to be. But know that the Almighty doesn't give up on you just because you've given up.

When you feel nothing seems to go your way; you're facing one trial after another, that's when you need to cling on to hope! He'll lift you!

Yes, this life is tough. Our tired souls, exhausted minds and deep scars tend to make us forget what He has promised. Don't quit, press on!

If you put your hope in situations or people, you're likely to be let down. Put your hope in the Almighty. He won't leave you disappointed.

Whether things work out or not, it's the Almighty's Will. Keep going. Whatever the outcome, there's a blessing in it. Keep smiling.

If you ever feel tired of this world, remind yourself, it's all temporary. Nothing lasts here. Only Hereafter is forever. It awaits us.

Whatever you're focusing on in this life, remember, the greater life is the Hereafter. May the Almighty grant us the loftiest place there!

---

You feel nothing is going right. You see delays and closed doors. If you fully trust what He has in store for you, you'll pick yourself up!

---

Don't be sad when you lose something. He will somehow, someday and in some way replace your loss. He'll also reward you for the good you do.

All that you're going through won't matter one day. That one day when everything stops and all that matters is how you lived your life. So don't wait till you're older to do good and be kind and to get closer to the Almighty. Don't procrastinate. Do it now.

In the course of our lives, some things are not going to make sense, but that's okay. Rest easy knowing that the Almighty wouldn't have allowed it if He wasn't going to bring good out of it. Don't doubt that. He always has our best interest at heart.

---

Each and everyone of us matters to the Almighty. He knows all there is to know about us; the good, the bad, the ugly. He created us. He cares about us. He loves us more than we could ever imagine. The whole world may be against us but He is for us.

We all have ups and downs; days where we struggle more than others. Know that the Almighty is aware and will never let our efforts be wasted.

The hurt will heal, hatred will turn to love. Everything will pass. So bear patience. Don't worry. The Almighty has told us nothing lasts.

---

You think things look like they're getting worse. But they're actually getting better. The Almighty's checking on you and will pave the way!

---

Each hardship you face is designed specially for you by your Creator. It's for you to get closer to Him. He knows you can handle it.

We're all a work in progress. We're not perfect.
As long as we're trying to be better than we were yesterday, that's what matters most.

When we feel weak or overwhelmed, seek refuge in the Almighty. Nothing's too much for Him.
He's in control. He'll always see us through.

Keep your heart calm. Attach it to your Creator.
Ignore all the noise. The day you walk in Paradise is when every hardship will make sense.

Life will always have ups and downs, good times and bad. Learn from them all. Each new day is a new opportunity to show Him how grateful we are.

Your hardship won't last. It's here today and gone tomorrow. The Almighty has promised us. Bear patience and it'll end in a beautiful way!

Losing a family member through death is probably one of the Almighty's toughest tests. But know that He has the power to relieve the grief.

---

Don't let worries of the future consume you. Throw them out when they enter your mind. Ask the Almighty to give you what's best. Trust Him.

---

We plan. The Almighty plans. When our plans don't work out, it's easy to lose hope and give up. Don't. He has better things for us. Trust Him.

When you feel lost, instead of drifting further, remind yourself this life is temporary. The feeling won't last. Ask the Almighty for ease.

When life doesn't make sense, when you're facing your darkest hour, that's when your faith is being tested to see if you crumble or hold on.

When times are tough, the easiest thing to do is to give up. But to cling on when everyone else expects you to let go, that's real strength.

The more storms you face in life, the stronger you'll be. That's how it works. So don't give up when it's darkest. Dawn will surely break.

The Almighty is the Owner of Everything. He never runs out of favour. His Resources are limitless. The fact that He blesses someone abundantly won't stop Him from doing the same for others.

---

It's natural for us to stumble, lose hope and get impatient during trials. But if we remember He's in control, we'll see the hidden blessings.

---

You can't go back on your life. So don't look that way. Travel forward. Focus on today. What you do henceforth is what really counts!

---

Calamity has its blessings. Embrace it. The Almighty knows. He has seen how it can transform a harsh person into one with the kindest heart.

Almighty. Grant us strength and endurance to go through the tough tests right now. No matter what's happening, fill our hearts with hope.

If a friend walks out on you because of your faith, don't despair. The Almighty will replace him with someone even better. Stay firm.

---

You may feel shattered to a million pieces and there's no hope but rely on the Almighty's plans for you. Don't insult Him. He can fix you.

---

Have you ever lost hope that your life could ever change? Instead of being shaken by the empty promises of the world, turn to Him in prayer.

You think you can't undo the hurt but you forget that the Almighty can do that and more. He'll make you stronger from what you've experienced.

As life gets more hectic, you feel something isn't right with your life. You're restless and uneasy. Turn to your Creator for the remedy!

---

The Almighty made you the way you are for a purpose. It wasn't by accident. He'll never neglect you. You'll never be left out. Thank Him!

---

Just as the Almighty opens doors for us, He also closes them. If He does that, it means there's something better waiting. Read the signs!

Love will always trump hate. The Almighty will see to that. Don't worry. Things may not make sense now but trust Him as His Plans unfold.

Keep going. The race of life is not given to the strongest person. It's for the one who says, "I won't quit because Paradise is worth it!"

---

You won't understand everything that's going on in life. It's ok. The Almighty has a plan. He knows how to bring good out of it. Keep going.

---

Don't see your illness as a cause of despair. Use it as a means to turn to Him for Mercy and Healing. Almighty, grant the sick complete cure.

Nothing lasts; especially people. They come and go. Don't get your hopes high. Don't build your lives around others. This is part of His Plan.

If you put your hope in situations or people, you're likely to be let down. Put your hope in the Almighty. He won't leave you disappointed.

---

No matter what thoughts Satan's feeding your mind, the Almighty has NOT abandoned you. He's helping you in ways you'll never comprehend.

---

Amidst the hardship and difficulties, you can still be a beacon of hope for someone. Never doubt that. Extend a helping hand, a smile, a meal for the hungry. You can be their miracle!

You may have been overlooked by people in your life, passed over for a job promotion, or just treated badly and ignored by some. Don't worry. These things happen when you're dealing with people. But know that the Almighty won't ever overlook you.

You may not see a way out of your desperate situation but that doesn't mean the Almighty doesn't have a way. He knows the best time!

---

If the Almighty has first place in your life, you won't have to worry about who has the other places. Everything will fall into place and your heart will be content. That's all that matters eventually.

A coastal landscape at sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, casting a warm, golden glow over the scene. The sky is filled with soft, golden light, and the ocean is shimmering with reflections. In the foreground, a dark, rocky cliffside is visible on the left, with waves crashing against its base. The word "PATIENCE" is overlaid in the center of the image in a white, bold, 3D-style font with a slight shadow.

PATIENCE

Don't compare yourself to the one who has more. It's a dangerous path to take. You'll become bitter. He blesses us differently. Give thanks.

---

Some days, you'll be angry.
Some days, you'll be sad.
That's how life goes. Don't let your feelings get the better of you. Keep your focus.

The higher you climb in life, the more people will criticize you. Even at your best, people will still find a bone to pick.
Ignore them.

No matter what happens in life, keep a good heart. A heart of patience and trust. Don't let the darkness of this world harden your heart.

---

The Almighty knows you're tired, fed up, close to breaking point. But He's given strength within you even when you feel weak. Keep going.

---

Nothing lasts. Your sadness will pass, your youth will leave you. Your pain will vanish. So keep moving to reach our final destination!

Do you think the Almighty isn't aware of the nights you cried yourself to sleep, for every time you endured any pain? Do you think all that will go unnoticed and unrewarded? Remember, every trial you pass with patience is a ticket to a better Hereafter.

At times, the Almighty puts you through hard times because He knows when you're at your lowest, you're most likely to turn to Him for comfort, knowing He's the only One who can change your condition. Be patient with whatever He has decreed. Be grateful when things get better.

It's human nature to get frustrated at times. When that happens, the best thing to do is to take a step back from whatever situation you're in, confide in the Almighty and give Him complete control!

Anger if not guarded can possess, consume, and ultimately destroy a person. How often have we seen or heard of someone who ruined his life because of a rash act or statement made in a fit of rage? So be careful before you unleash words or actions which may cause deep regret.

Even when disagreeing with someone, choose good words.

There's no need to be rude and hurtful because you don't share their point of view.

We do get tired at times. But quitting is not an option. Keep going. Keep your focus. The Almighty knows the best time for everything.

---

Don't give up when it's hard. Don't give up when life's not fair. Keep going despite the odds. The Almighty will bring you through it.

Guard yourself against being overly stressed. Stop expecting things to happen right now. Believe that things will happen in His timing!

You will stand. You will fall. You will rise again. Such are the challenges in life. Nothing lasts in this world. Forever is in Hereafter!

---

Don't let your pain make you unkind. Nobody knows what the other person is going through. There's too much suffering in the world already.

Don't let anger control you.
Don't let hate breed in your heart. Don't let negativity be the order of your day. Keep your heart guided in the right direction. Keep the Almighty at the centre of your life and you'll live a life of passion and purpose.

Don't waste your time worrying, especially about things beyond your control.
Don't let worry take away your joy. Instead, use that same energy to thank the Almighty for all that you have. Thank Him for being in control.

Don't belittle the one who remains silent. Not only can it be more powerful than words, it also takes a lot of maturity, effort and intelligence to keep quiet when you're expected to respond in the same way you were spoken to. It's a powerful tool to learn and master.

---

Let people backbite and spread rumours about you. There's not much you can do anyway. But thank the Almighty because they're giving away their good deeds to you. Be at ease knowing you'll be rewarded for it.

You go through pain for a reason; from feeling lost to being found, from despair to faith, from falling to getting up again. It's His Plan.

The pain you've experienced and endured should make you a kinder, softer person and a more compassionate one. You shouldn't be hard and bitter.

---

Protect your heart at all costs.

Don't let negative, nasty people in. Everything comes from your heart. If you lose it, you lose everything.

If people choose to be rude, just smile and hold your ground. Don't retaliate. It reflects badly on them, not
you. Keep your peace.

We may think it's a rejection.
In fact, it's the Almighty's protection. Our limited minds can't understand this.
Some day it'll make sense.

Don't get upset when those you thought would stay but didn't. The Almighty knows who belongs in your life.
You've got to trust His Plans!

A quiet person is not a weak person. He's strong in fact. He has struggles like all of us but he chooses not to stress others with it.

---

Be wary of your tongue. The harsh words you utter may scar others for life. You can heal broken bones but it's harder to heal a broken mind.

---

Don't expect things to go your way. They won't. If He delays what you've asked for, it's one of the biggest tests of your faith and patience.

Appreciate the little acts of kindness; feel the love and appreciate all things around you. Learn to swallow and ignore things that hurt you.

Learn to stay calm when you're tested. Exercise restraint and logic. Don't let what others say control your reaction. Remember, nothing lasts.

---

The problem with us is we're impatient. We always demand answers, wanting things to make sense now. The Almighty is All-Knowing. Trust Him.

Be patient with yourself. Be kind to yourself. We've all been hurt and had mean things done to us. But we pick ourselves up and keep going.

Learn to stay away from arguments. They sap your energy and rob you of your inner peace. It takes a mature person to not get into an argument.

If you don't like a person, stay away and don't hurt him. Don't be vulgar, abusive and disrespectful towards him. That's a sign of weak faith.

Don't be too concerned about who is right. What is right is more important. Argue less, guard your tongue. Keep the peace. You'll be blessed.

When times are tough, that's when your character is developed. When you face trials and suffering, your soul is strengthened. So keep going.

No matter how good a person you are, some will hate you. Don't despair. People often create their own drama out of jealousy. Ignore them!

Don't waste time trying to prove your critics wrong. They'll never be satisfied and will always find something to pick on. Run your own race.

Keep doing the right thing despite the trouble, difficulty and betrayal. One day, the Almighty will connect the dots and it'll all make sense.

---

Don't keep replaying the bad that has happened. Learn from every experience. Change your thoughts to positive ones. It'll change your life.

Never mind if you don't understand it. Never mind if it doesn't make sense. It may be painful. But He knows what He's doing. Just trust Him.

It's hard to be grateful and thank the Almighty when you're going through a struggle. But give thanks as He strengthens you even more.

---

Just because you're having a bad day doesn't give you the right to be mean to others or worse, to put them down. Be mature, rise above it!

When the Almighty tests you, He's testing how well you're able to restore faith in your heart. Be patient. Don't lose faith. Ease will come.

If something is meant for you, no one can prevent it.
The one you want to marry, that job, that promotion will come if it's yours. Patience!

At times, our greatest enemy is the frustration we feel with the Almighty's timing. We forget He creates obstacles to test our patience.

Learn from past experience and mistakes. The Almighty sent them for a reason. If the same situation happens again, draw on the lessons learnt.

Whatever happens, keep moving. The ups and downs, the love and hate, the good and bad. They come and they go. That's our journey. We'll get there!

Don't let anger into your heart. You may think it means you're more superior than someone else by showing your power. In truth, it will kill you.

Being happy for others will not rob you of your own happiness. When someone has more than you, it doesn't mean they're getting your share of the blessing. What's yours will be yours. The Almighty will see to that. Always wish the best for others!

When someone disagrees with us or somehow makes our life difficult, remember that it's often not about us. It may be about their pain or struggle or whatever they're going through. Give them the benefit of the doubt.

The Almighty alone knows the pain, sadness and emptiness felt on the loss of a loved one. This is why He has taken it upon Himself to reward such patience. Nobody else would understand but Him. Bear patience.

As humans, we will definitely disagree with each other on some matters, at times strongly. That does not make either of us bad or evil. We must learn to respect our differences. Each one of us has the same right to his or her own opinion.

Don't let your frustrations make you miserable. There's more to life than that. Control your attitude. It goes to show how mature you are.

Before we criticise and label others, take a minute to understand their pain and turmoil. How would you react under the same conditions?

---

No matter what you're facing, know that someone else has it worse. Be patient with the problems you have and grateful for what you don't have.

No matter what life throws at you, remain kind and compassionate. Never be angry and rude. It can be difficult but it will endear you to Him.

You may feel you've been suffering for a long time but if you're firm in faith, the Almighty will show you a way when you don't see one.

---

When people are rude to you, smile and choose not to retaliate. Stay on high ground. Keep your peace. Do that and you take their power away.

Be strong and have good courage. Nothing is too much for Him. The Almighty has already armed you with strength for every battle!

Don't rely on others to make you happy. Be positive. The Almighty is by your side. Take care of your mindset. He will make you confident.

---

Worry is part of life. It's natural for us as humans to have such thoughts. What's important is not to let them get the better of us.

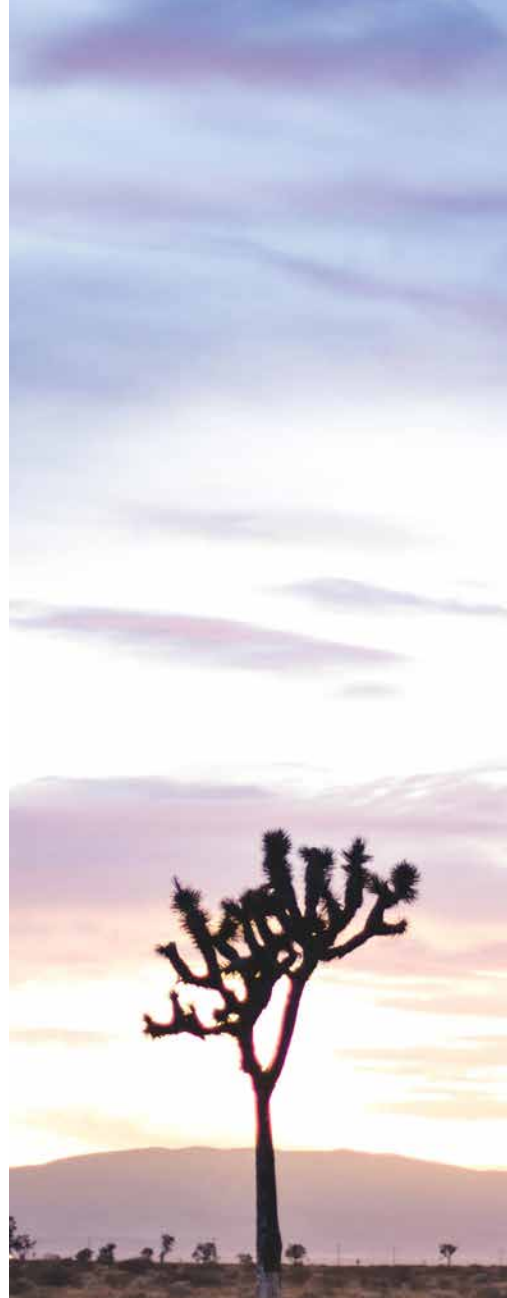

Before we complain, let us not forget that we're better off than many in this world. Our struggles are small compared to theirs. Thank Him!

Don't react to others when you're emotional as you're more likely to misinterpret what they say. It takes a calm, sensible mind to do this.

---

To fail doesn't make you a failure. It teaches and reminds you that the Almighty's Plan always prevails. He'll send you signs and redirect you!

When someone utters rude and unkind words, don't retaliate. Ask the Almighty to grant you strength to respond in the best possible way.

Endure the tough times. That's when we gain something. We may not like it but we gain experience and endurance. It develops our character.

---

Whatever trials you're facing in life, never give up on patience and prayer. They're two of the best antidotes. Be steadfast. He's watching!

The real test of your character is when circumstances don't go the way you want. Will you then remain a kind, caring and good-hearted person?

If you enjoy His Blessings, you must also accept His Trials. That's how it is. When you envy the blessings of others, remember their trials.

---

Many think silence is a weakness. It's not. It's an inner strength. It teaches us to listen and tells us that at times, staying quiet is best!

The Almighty sees our tears and hears our prayers always.
Pray that He strengthens us so we can face the trials with utmost patience.

In life, there'll always be those who want to drag you down.
Don't let them. Keep your head up. Focus. The Almighty is All-Knowing.

---

How mature you are has little to do with age. It's the strength of your soul. The more you've endured, the stronger and more mature you get.

Don't give in to worry. It will rob you of everything, leaving you drained and lifeless. So no matter what happens, keep your inner peace.

---

This life is too short to live being offended, angry, bitter and full of hatred. Each new day is a gift from the Almighty. Live it well.

---

So you've been having a tough time. You don't know how long more you can hold on. Remember, bad days don't last forever. Keep patience alive.

At times, the pain you're going through seems so unbearable and you feel you can't go on. Don't get angry with yourself. Nothing is permanent.

Learn to ignore and disregard the noise around you. Keep your heart at peace. Build self-control and discipline if you want to get close to Him.

---

Cultivate patience. Being upset won't make you achieve your goals any quicker! Everything has its right time. Every delay has its blessing.

When you don't get what you want and you find it hard to trust Him, that's when you need to bear utmost patience. He'll reward you greatly!

Your strength doesn't come from winning. It comes from your struggles and hardship. That's why the more He loves you, the more He tests you!

---

Don't run away from difficulties. He placed them in your path for a reason. So embrace the rose and the thorns as well. That's how you grow.

It's natural to feel frustrated when you don't see the results you want. Take it one step at a time. One day at a time. You'll get there.

The Almighty has it all planned for you. Stop worrying about how and when things will unfold. He will see to that. Your job is to trust Him.

It's normal to feel tired and worn out sometimes. All we need is a little bit of help to push us to higher ground. Seek Him for that strength.

What you think of in difficult times says a lot about you. It can make a difference if you choose an attitude of faith instead of giving up.

Whatever happens in life, it's for the best. You may have lost your job or got a new one. Whichever it may be, show patience and gratitude.

---

You think He's delaying everything. He knows what's going on. Don't get discouraged. Don't lose heart. Don't give up. Be persistent. Pray!

Those who show real patience are most dear to the Almighty.

Giving up is not in their vocabulary. They struggle and strive for His sake.

---

We all want Paradise. Yet we complain when we are tested.
Adopt a new attitude. Know that nothing good comes easy. Face trials patiently.

For as long as we're alive, expect to be hurt, criticized and insulted. Stand firm and remain patient. Let the Almighty take care of things.

Don't let any storm set you back. It should propel you forward and toughen you. That's what a believer does. Stay firm in faith at all times.

Each day brings new challenge. But with each challenge, let us try to be better; more patient and more conscious of our Maker. Ease will come!

---

Do you feel overwhelmed by the pressures and uncertainties of life? Don't let such things drag you down because the Almighty is in control!

Don't be frustrated. Be patient instead; with the Almighty and with yourself. Don't be in such a rush. We often expect His schedule to be the same as ours! It rarely works that way. We're in a hurry. He's not. Remember, He's always on time. Not a moment earlier or later!

Don't wish ill on those who have harmed you. Instead, pray for them to acknowledge their mistakes and be guided. Don't worry about revenge. The Almighty teaches us lessons we're meant to learn at the right time. He is always with the one who's right and fair!

Hiding pain under a smile is not easy. It can be one of the hardest things to do. You do it when you care about others more than you do for yourself. But remember, a smile can hide so much.. fear, pain, sadness, tears. But they reflect one main thing.

Strength!

Train yourself to remain polite even in the most difficult situation. Stand your ground firmly but politely. Let them curse and swear. Choose to rise above cheap, verbal abuse which is widespread today. Sooner or later, they'll realize their mistake and how offensive they were!

No matter how hurt, angry or disappointed you are, never allow people to make you bitter. Don't sink to their level. Move on graciously.

Don't waste time being angry about your problems. Instead, use that energy to find solutions. Pray for His Guidance. He'll find a way out!

---

Get back up, no matter what knocks you down each time. Endure, press on and never give up. Great blessings come with great perseverance!

Don't live a life of worry, frustration and disappointment.
It saps your energy and steals your joy. You won't be able to see His Blessings.

When people react negatively to you, turn it into something positive. Don't stoop to their level. Appreciate all the goodness around you.

---

Having a bad opinion of others is a disease of the heart.
Give them the benefit of the doubt, be kind and show people that you're honourable.

Don't be too quick to assume bad things when facing a trial from the Almighty. There's good in every difficulty. Be patient. You'll see!

---

Patience is when you're able to conquer that angry voice in your head which wants to take revenge on others who hurt you or are mean to you.

---

When someone does or says something bad to you, don't take it personally. Don't dwell on their bad reaction. Be nice to them anyway.

If you're struggling to get back on track, don't let people mock your efforts. It's your road back to Him. He will guide you.

Bear patience.

Life comes with both happiness and sadness. Learn to be patient when sad and grateful when happy. He will reward you and elevate your status.

---

We're always in such a hurry to give up when things are bad. Be patient. Trust. When you least expect it, something great will come along!

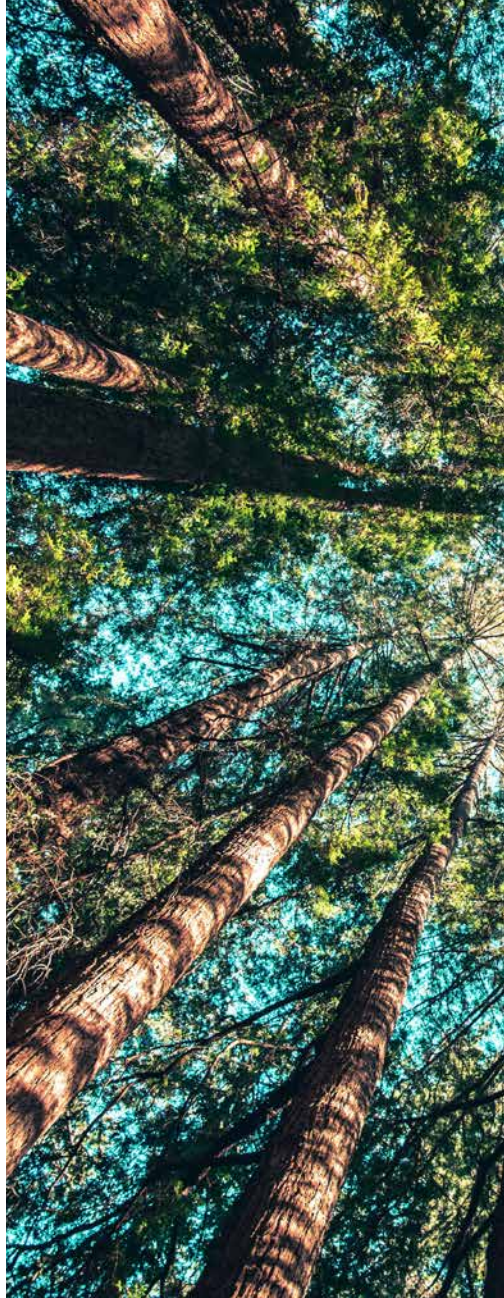

Some people just love to pick on you and your mistakes. They actually feel inferior to you. Stay calm. Know that they're the problem, not you.

How you react when tested says a lot about you. Does the pain make you angry? Do you take it out on others? Remember, pain is part of life.

---

We may have reasons to disagree but that in itself is no reason to hate. Our resentment is more a reflection of ourselves than others.

Learn to breathe and smile more. Every challenge you're facing will have a solution. He'll see to that. Do your part and He'll do the rest!

When you're being oppressed or victimised, take heart. You're never alone. The enemy won't win. The Almighty always has the final word!

---

This life is a test of patience and gratitude. It's your own individual journey back to the Almighty. Don't compare it with anyone else.

Times are difficult now.
Uncertainties abound. Hate is spreading like wildfire. Don't quit. Patience and prayer are the solutions we need.

Don't lose sleep over what others have been blessed with.
The Almighty's the Owner of Sustenance. Be happy instead.
He'll give you more.

Stop asking and begging others for things which only the Almighty can give you.
Seek from your Creator and Provider. You won't be disappointed.

Stop reacting to all that's said to you. Take it in and reason it out to see if it needs a response. You'll save yourself a lot of trouble.

---

Almighty. Keep our hearts from worrying about what others think of us. Keep us steadfast in doing what You want of us.

---

The problems we face in life are not stop signs. They're the Almighty's way of making us learn. So use them as guidelines to move forward.

Remember, you can either complain about it or have faith in the Almighty to guide you through it, learn from it and grow. The choice is yours.

Keep going despite the odds and what people say. Work hard, honour the Almighty in the best way. He will turn the hearts of those against you.

---

Never give up on your children. No matter how bad things are, don't say you've reached your breaking point. Keep praying. He knows and cares!

You may feel you're being pulled in different directions.

The world pulling you in one way and the Almighty in the opposite way. Stay firm in faith.

Just because the Almighty hasn't given it to you yet, doesn't mean He won't or can't. He'll give it when you're ready. He knows best!

---

Nothing happens by accident. The Almighty plans every step for us to learn life's lesson. Trust Him; keep going. You'll smile in the end!

FORGIVENESS

No matter how painful your experience was, never treat people the way they treated you. Let them be or just walk away. Choose to be better.

If someone says or does something that upsets you, don't take it to heart. It's not easy but it's for your own peace of mind. Just forgive.

When something bad has passed, learn to thank Him and move on. Don't keep replaying it in your mind. Start healing and move on.

Never wish pain on others. They may have caused you pain but pray for them instead and wish them healing. The truth is they need that most!

When someone hurts you, don't retaliate. Instead, tell yourself you'll never stoop that low and do the same thing to anyone else. Above all, choose not to live with the guilt of hurting others.

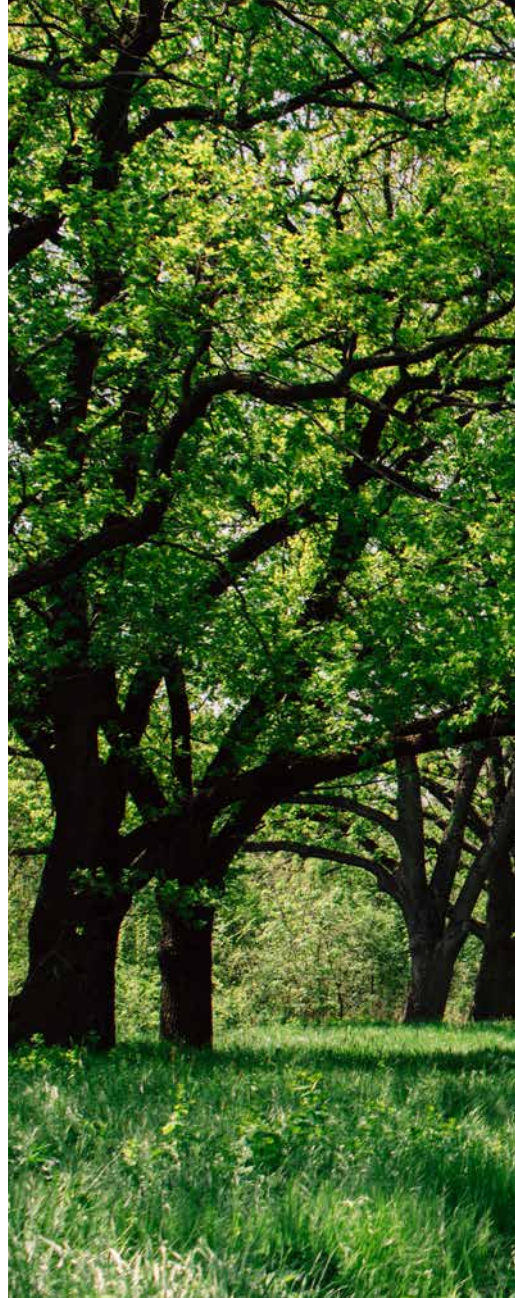

People who try to destroy your happiness are simply jealous of you. Pray for them because the truth is they're unhappy with their own lives.

No matter how bad you're treated, let it go. Wake up ready to take on a new day, as each day is a test. Don't let your anger get in the way.

Pray for those who criticise you unfairly, judge you wrongly and say hurtful things. Don't do the same to them. Respond with kindness instead.

Being able to forgive the one who wronged you and being ready to trust him again are two different things. Don't let others manipulate you to feeling guilty because you're not ready to trust again.

Seek guidance from the Almighty. He's All-Knowing.

When you find it hardest to forgive the one who has wronged you, that's when you should really try to do so. It could be the most loved act by the Almighty that will take you to Paradise on the Day of Judgement!

Don't wish ill on others as much as you want to hurt those who hurt you.
Wish them healing. Wish them love. Walk away. The Almighty knows.

If you have a good heart, you'll be hurt. That's reality.
Whatever others do, they know you'll forgive. But don't keep the hurt inside you.

Forgiveness is not only about others. It's also about our own spiritual growth. Love and forgiveness cannot be separated. If we choose to live the way the Almighty wants us to, then forgiving cannot be avoided. Because we all sin, we should forgive others.

Don't hold grudges. Let them go and be merciful. Remember, the mercy you show others is the mercy the Almighty is going to show you.

Don't ever let your heart harden. Just because someone betrayed your trust, doesn't mean you can't trust others. Learn from it. You'll grow.

Learn to forgive and let go of those who have wronged you so you'll be free to move ahead with a light heart. Let peace and happiness prevail.

When others let you down and don't meet your expectations, don't be upset. Pray for them. As humans, we're not perfect. Only the Almighty is!

Bury your ego. Get it out of the way. Learn to be compassionate instead. Live from your heart. You'll end up a much happier person.

The problem is we notice mistakes in others so quickly that we overlook the good in them. Forgive others if we expect Him to forgive us!

The longer you hold on to your anger, the more damage and harm it can do. Let go of such ill feelings and don't let them fester in your heart.

No matter what hate and abuse people hurl at you, be kind. Don't go down to their level. Let the Almighty deal with them. He's All-Knowing.

Almighty. May we not hate those who've wronged us.
May we forgive them and leave the rest to You. You're the Most Just. You're the Best Judge!

---

Some will go out of their way to disturb your peace. Don't allow their petty drama to stress you out. Don't take it to heart. Let it go.

At times, you know you're right. In fact, it may even be quite obvious that you are but for the sake of peace, you just learn to let it go!

Stop pointing fingers at other people's mistakes. We all make them. It's easy to see faults. Try to have a patient heart that listens.

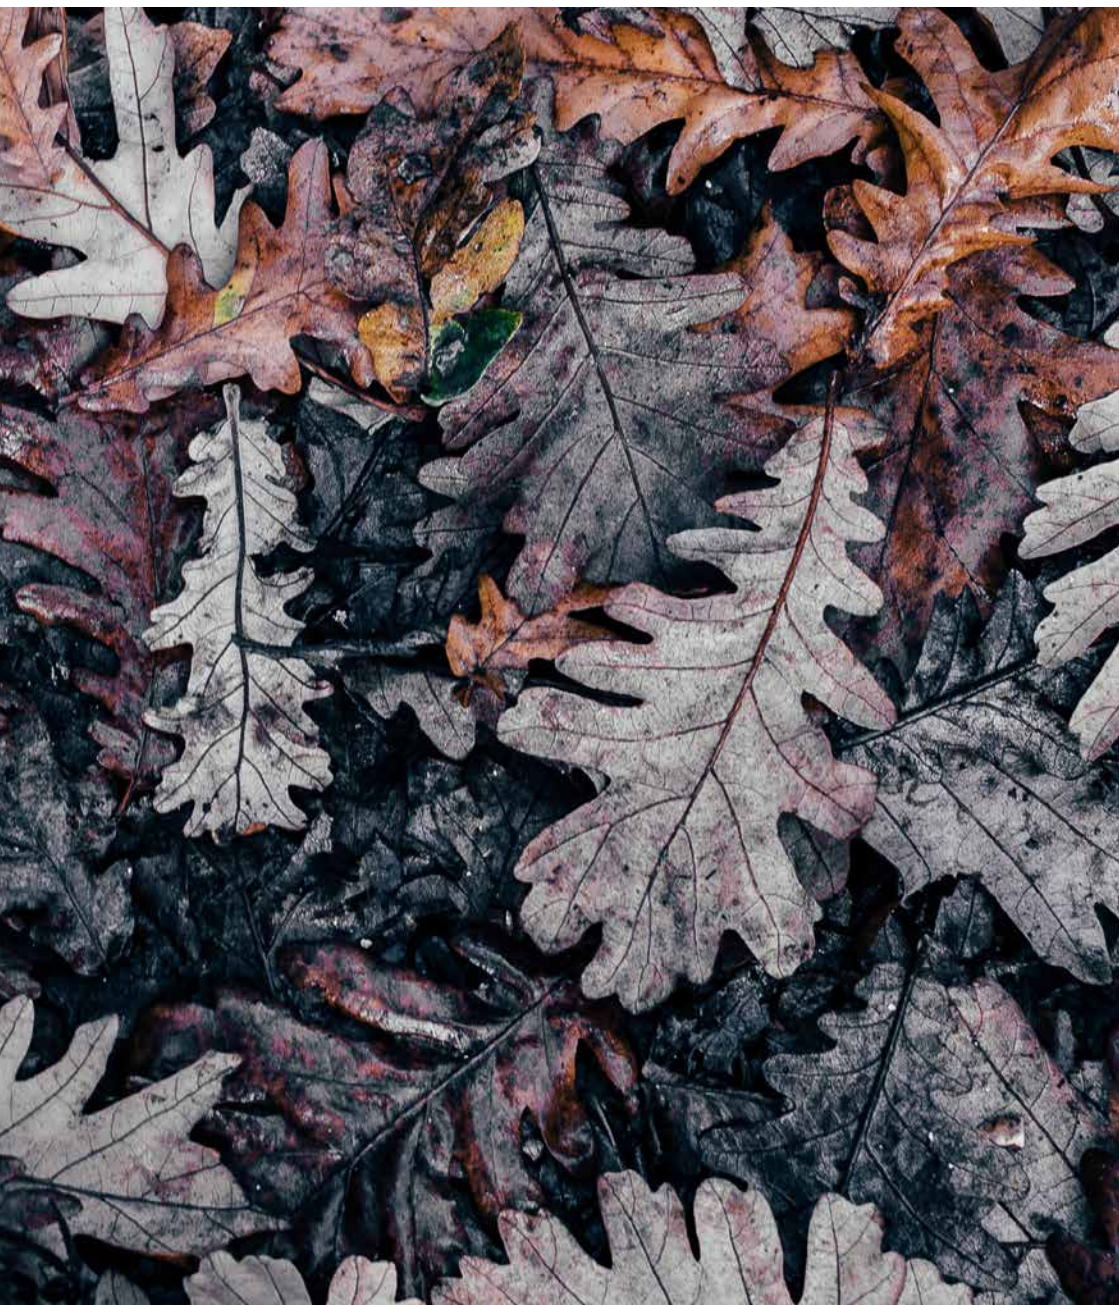

When people treat you badly, stop blaming yourself for it. Remember, they're the ones with the problem. Not you. Pray for them instead.

If you keep looking back, living a life of regret, how can you expect to move forward and embrace all that the Almighty has in store for you?

If you don't want to be chained to your past, learn to let go of the grudges you're holding. This life is way too short. Just live!

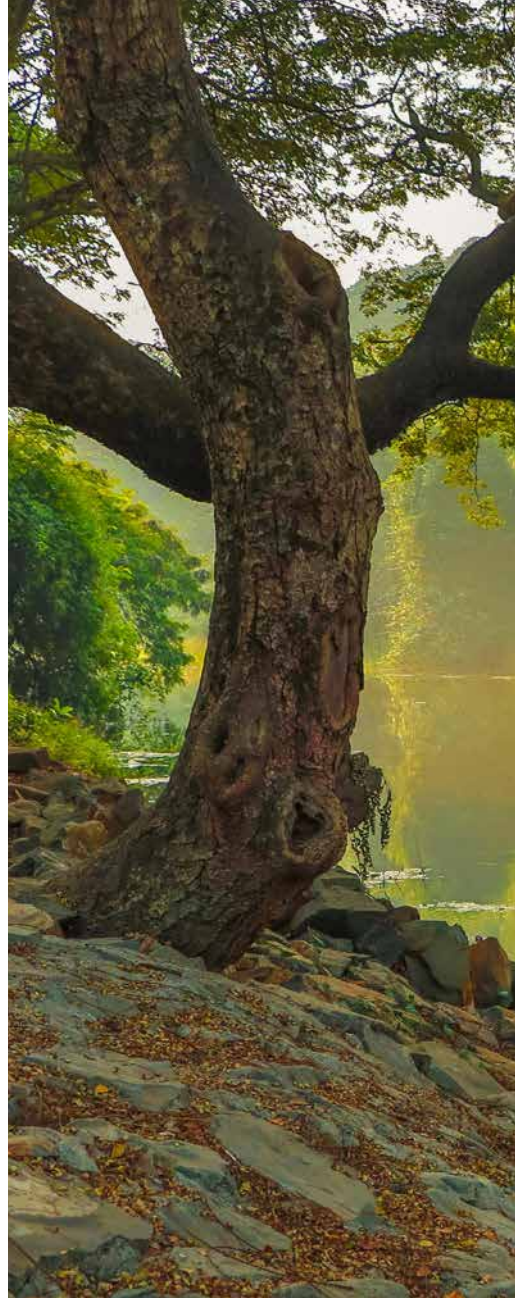

Life won't come to a standstill just because you have an issue with someone. Don't let it affect your heart. Be tolerant. Live and let live.

At times we feel life's unfair because we don't know what the Almighty knows. Don't hurt those who hurt you.
Move past it. Let it be.

Don't let the bad you see daily make you bitter. Carry hope in your heart, kindness and generosity. Don't let others affect you negatively.

Don't let hatred grow in you, otherwise everything in your life will be affected. It will distract and anger you. It will often end in regret.

Don't hold grudges; they weigh you down. Free yourself from such ill feelings and from people who create drama around you. Choose kindness!

Choose not to hold on to the hurt when unfair things happen in life. Let it go and forgive. Surrender to the Almighty and let Him deal with it.

Forgiveness is not a one-off thing. It's something you do consciously, bit by bit until you're completely healed and free from the hurt.

The mind replays what the heart can't delete. So be careful what you keep in your heart. Purify it often with remembrance of your Creator.

Don't see the worst in others and expect them to see the best in you. Don't judge others and expect them to stand by you. Life isn't like that!

Some will wrong you and not bat an eyelid. It may bother you how they can be so heartless. But thank the Almighty. At least you have a heart!

When someone criticises or disagrees with you, don't let the hatred from it stay in your heart. Get rid of the feeling. Don't let it grow.

Be a positive influence to people you meet. Tell your loved ones you love them. Forgive those who hurt you. It's easier on your heart!

Things change all the time. Nothing lasts. So don't wait for an apology. Forgive. Give what you can. Spread the joy. Make things happen.

How you are as a person reflects a lot about what's inside you. Let others judge, misunderstand and blame you. Stay above it all with dignity.

We are quick to give up on others because of their shortcomings. Yet the Almighty is most merciful towards us each time we do wrong.

We may disagree with others. That's ok. We're humans. But that's no reason to hate. Our feelings are a reflection of ourselves. Not others.

Why do we condemn others when we are making the same mistakes? It's hypocritical to judge people. Instead, work hard to get closer to Him.

Everyone out there is hurting one way or the other. The fact is we will never know. Only the Almighty does. So be kind and compassionate.

If you only knew the rewards of forgiving others, you'd do it readily. Forgive and He will forgive you. He will reward you. He will love you!

Learn to see beyond the superficial and what's on the surface; outer beauty, skin colour, material things and the likes. May the Almighty rid our hearts of all the bitter hatred and grudges and help us embrace people as our neighbours for His sake.

Try to find peace in all that you do. You can if you make the Almighty your priority. Be nice and kind, forgive, repent.

Do all that He loves.

Sort matters out soonest when you've had a dispute with someone. You can't possibly have a restful sleep, knowing you've wronged someone.

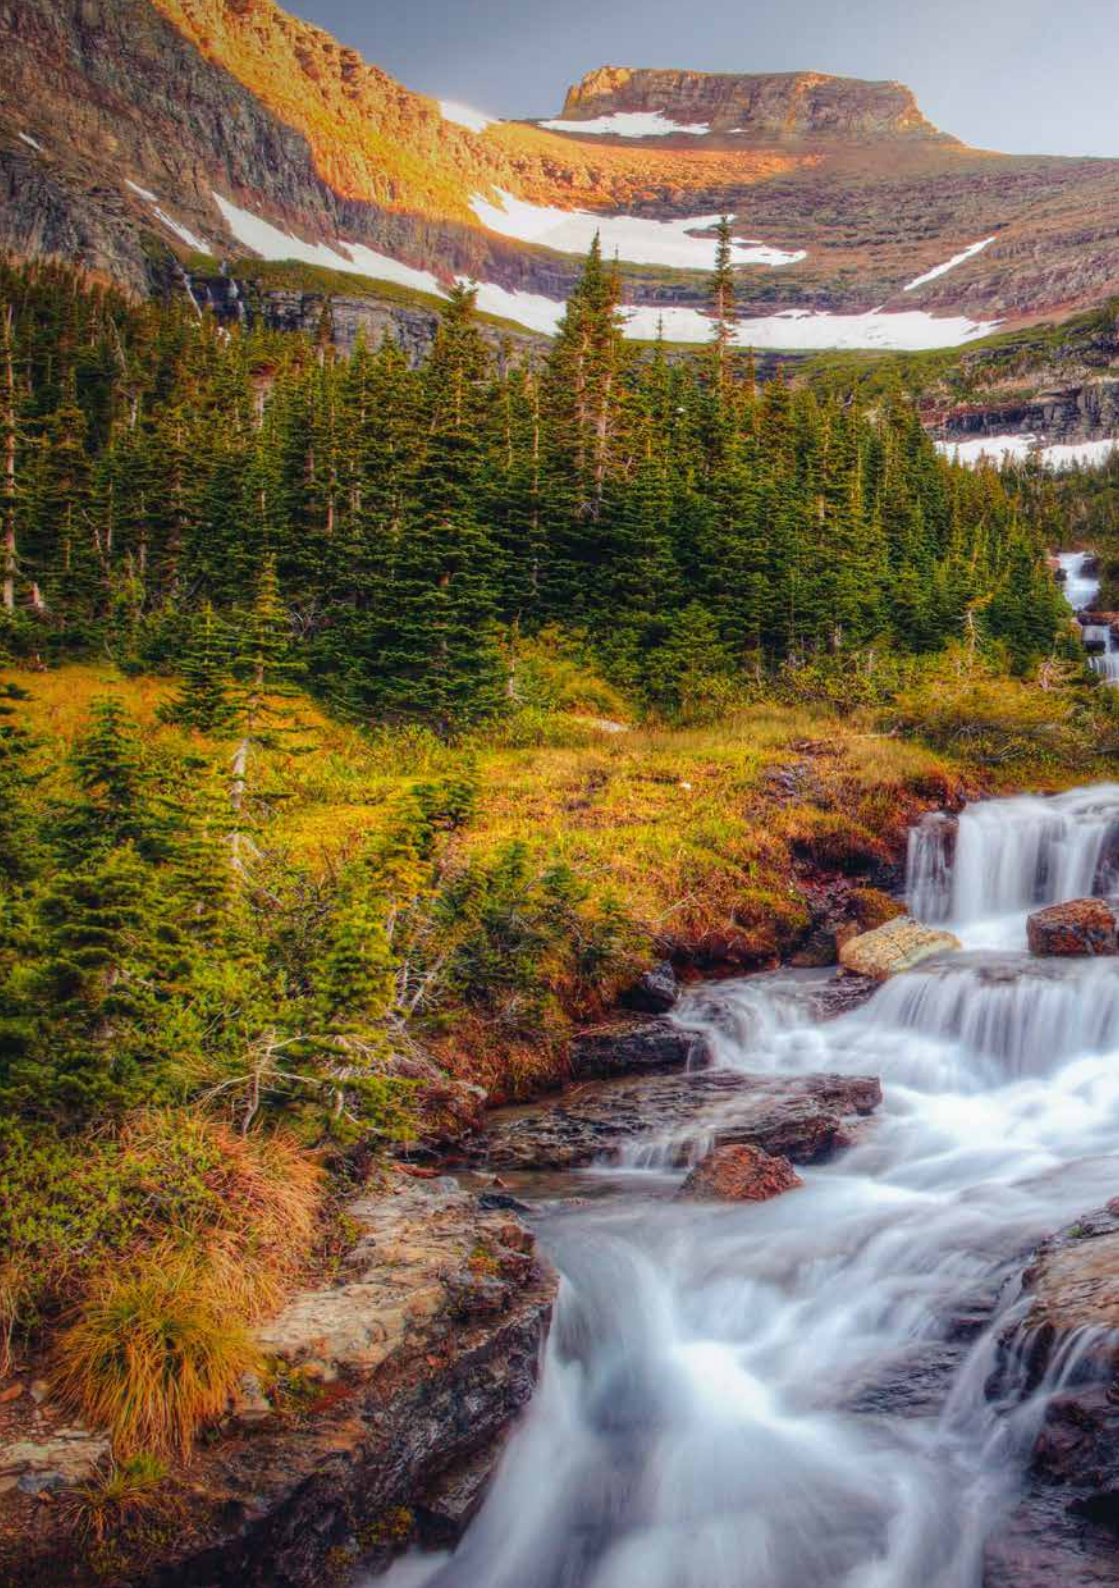

Learn from your past but leave it there. Don't keep going back. It will destroy your future. Live for what the Almighty has given you today.

Never think you're a bad person. Don't let Satan plant such thoughts in your head. We make mistakes almost daily. Just try to do better.

SINCERITY

When people are quiet, don't label them as snobbish or arrogant. They could be hiding their pain and prefer not to talk about it. There's a story behind every person, a reason why they are the way they are. That's why it's so important to be kind.

---

Treat people the way you want to be treated and pay more attention to those who really go out of their way for you. Don't let a good heart give up on you. Remember, a heart doesn't turn cold unless it's been ignored for a while. Good people are getting less common these days!

---

Be humble always. Don't let arrogance creep into your heart. Respect people around you. Each day, try to make an impact on people who cross your path. Try to be a source of inspiration to others. Nobody knows what tomorrow will bring.

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

No matter how knowledgeable you are, always remain humble. Check your heart and intent often. Remember, Satan wasn't stupid, he was arrogant.

---

A silent prayer from a pure heart is more meaningful for a cause you support than getting a huge number of likes for it on social media.

---

It's easy to be good to the one who's good to you. The real test is when you can be good to someone who has done you wrong. That's maturity!

---

Blessed is the one whose heart is so broken but still has the courage to be gentle and kind to others. Cherish such people. Learn from them.

If you think you can make yourself great by making someone else look small, think again. Don't ever belittle anyone. Remember, if you can't help them, at least don't hurt them or make them feel worthless. Give those you meet their due respect.

Whatever good you do will come back to you in one way or another. When you help someone else go higher in life, the Almighty will send someone to help you go higher. Good begets good. That's how it works!

---

The truth is we all need encouragement and motivation. Everybody needs somebody to cheer them on, someone who sees the best in you. There are too many people putting others down in this world. Be a positive influence in someone's life.

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

Wherever you go, treat people with kindness. But don't expect gratitude or anything in return. Let the reward be from the Almighty.

---

Don't make life difficult for others. It will all come back to you in some way, some day. Create ease so He will do the same for you.

---

Don't try to please everyone. That's a definite recipe for disaster. Be true to yourself instead. The sincere ones will appreciate you.

---

Keep your heart pure. Let others do what they will. Keep doing good. Don't dim your light to become as dark as they are. Shine above them!

Don't expect people to treat you as you treat them.
The ones you love the most may be the ones who'll hurt you most. You can't control it!

Always be kind and respectful to others.
Remember, the way you treat them will come back to you some day. What goes around comes around.

Keep doing good. Don't lose your values because of the misdeeds of others. Inspire as many as you can to do the same. It will change lives.

The more you give, the more you'll get back. Even if it's not money, give your time, words and advice.
He will reward you in greater ways!

No matter what's happening in your life right now, no matter how bleak things look, anything is possible as long as you seek the Almighty with a sincere heart. He will make things happen which your limited mind could never comprehend. He will respond and that is His Promise.

You may think it was a small act of kindness. But the Almighty does not forget the good you do, how you went out of your way for someone else. Nothing escapes Him, not even a speck of goodness done for His sake. Keep doing good even if you don't get it back! He loves what you do!

Whatever good you do, keep it private between you and the Almighty. Never forget that He holds the key to Paradise, not people around you. People will talk and blemish whatever you do. Let them judge. The Almighty is All-Knowing.

When you want to give advice, do so in such a way that people want to listen to you. Don't be mean and hurtful. Be genuine in wanting to correct their ways and help them get back on track. Your sincerity will long be remembered.

When you want to correct others, you have to find a way to emotionally reach them. Sometimes when you give advice, people become more aggressive and even worse off than they were before you gave them advice, just because of the way you did it.

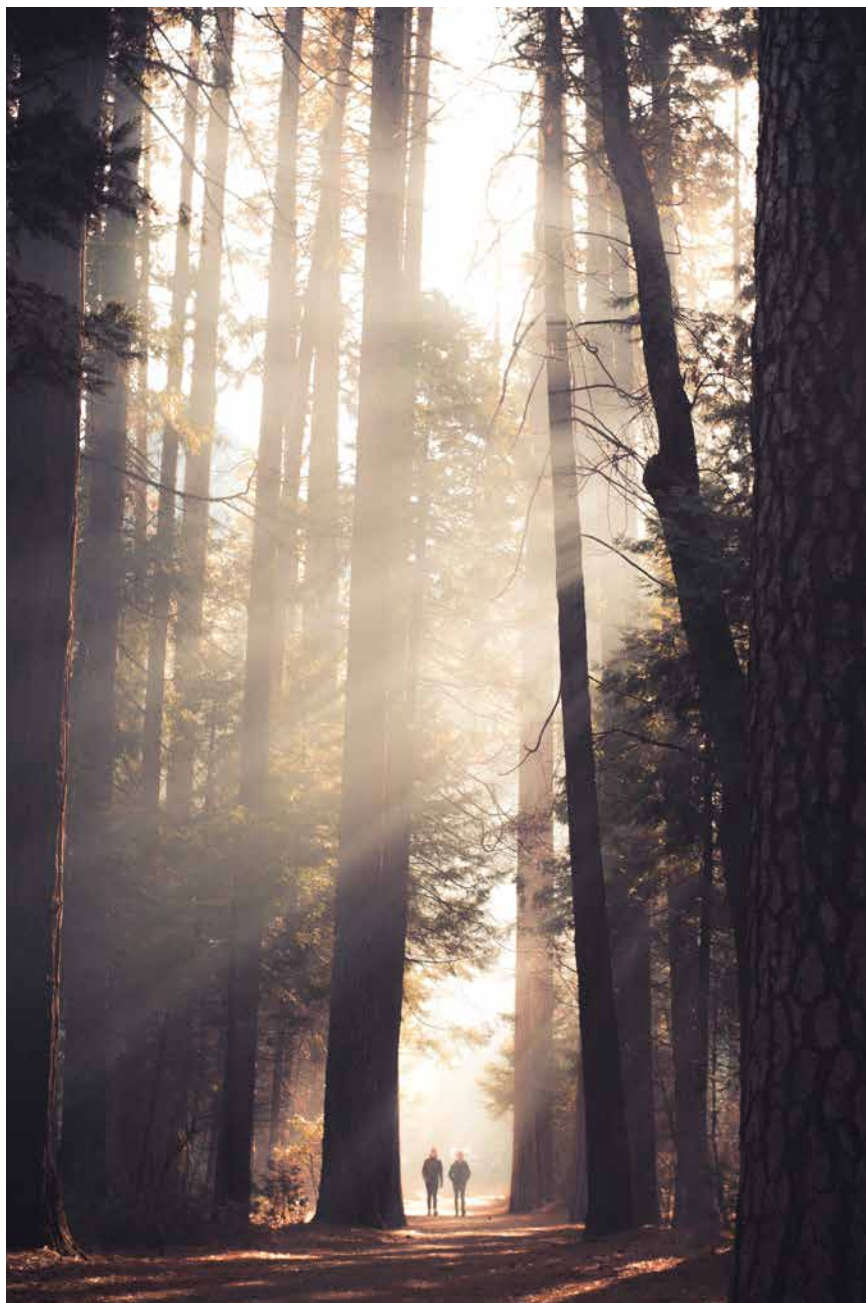

Use the kindest words and be sincere!

When we ask the Almighty for something, we should do so with trust and certainty that He will answer it. Never should we supplicate with a lazy mind and distracted heart. Ask wholeheartedly.

Keep asking. Be patient and don't give up.

Speak less if you can. If nothing good is going to be said, be silent. If you see something bad, advise kindly. Not in an arrogant way!

Stop being impressed by wealth and status. Instead, be impressed by those who treat other human beings well, in both good times and bad.

---

A jealous-free heart is a happy heart. Be happy for others and you'll be happy too. Know that the Almighty decides who gets what and why.

---

If you can't help others, don't hurt them. In the end, what counts is our character and the impact we had on others. Live a life that matters.

Challenge yourself each day to fully concentrate on your prayers. Throw worldly distractions out. Focus on Him and give Him what He deserves!

Be in the company of those who build you up and have good intent for you; not the ones who pretend they care but will gossip and backstab you.

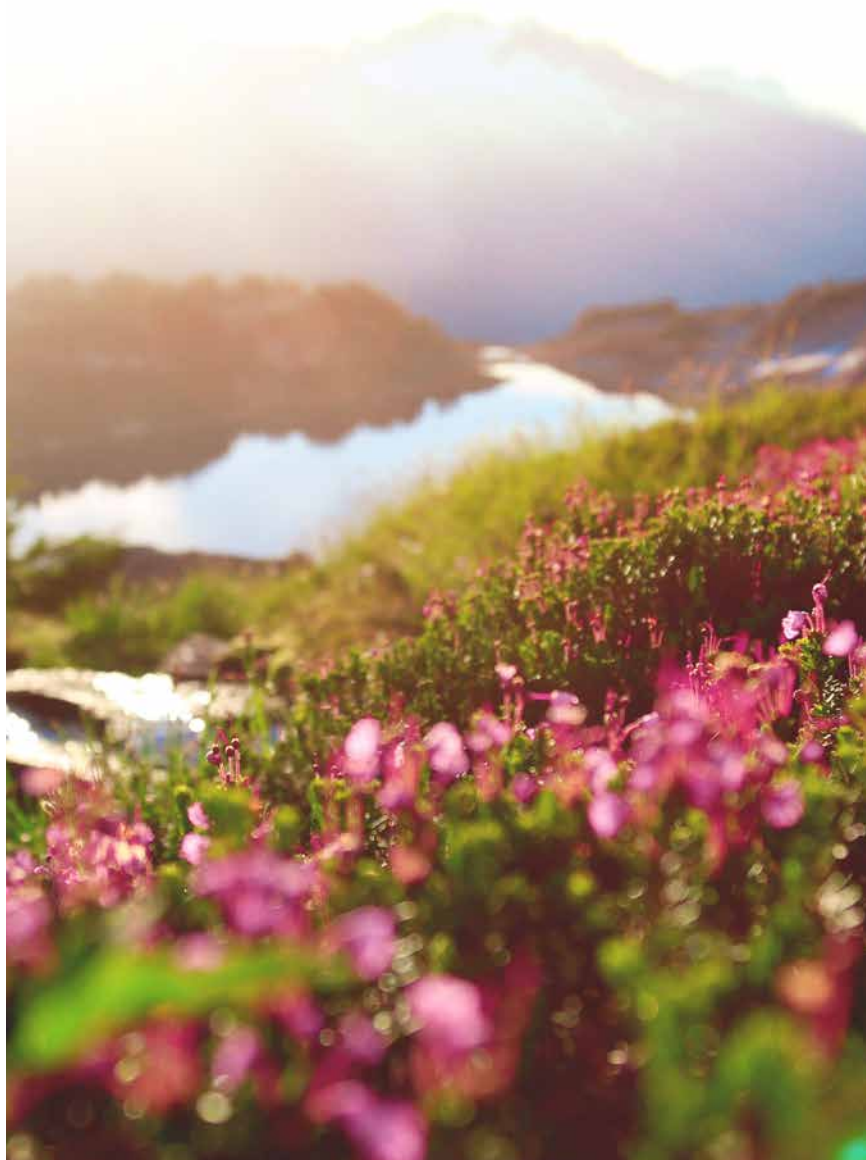

---

It's normal for us to feel unappreciated and unrewarded if we're doing things for the wrong reasons. Do it for His sake and He will reward you!

---

One of the biggest tests is if you're able to keep it humble even when you have much. Sacrifice in His cause. He'll give you even more.

One of the greatest gifts you can give others is kindness. If someone is in need, extend a helping hand. Don't do it only for the ones you like and respect - that's easy. But do it for those you don't even know. That's a tall order and it shows the true state of your heart!

Always ask the Almighty to soften our hearts. May we have compassion for those who suffer in unimaginable ways. Learn to pray passionately for them as we do for ourselves and our loved ones. And above all, may our souls remain humble.

---

Life's about sacrifice. It's about making choices. You can't have it all. But when you know you're doing it for the sake of your Creator, it becomes more meaningful. Surely His rewards are the best rewards!

Be content with what you have and you'll be happy. Be patient with the little; grateful for the big. Accept His Decisions. They're the best!

Some people will always choose to misunderstand your intent and look for flaws. No matter what you do, you can't change them. Pray for them!

---

When you give, you will receive. The Almighty will see to that. Ask yourself, what are you giving?
It will come back to you some day.

Love those who want good for you and sincerely correct you. Not he who wants to show up your fault. A believer is the mirror of his brother.

Whatever you want, ask Him. Ask sincerely; cure from illness, relief from stress, a way out of your struggle. He will respond. Trust Him.

Pray for others as you do for yourself. Don't forget to pray for those you don't like as well. They need Him as much as you do, if not more.

---

Respect your parents at all times, even if you don't agree with them. Keep your ego out of the picture and interact with them sincerely!

---

If you want something, ask the Almighty for it; a good job, a dutiful spouse? Raise your hands sincerely. Nothing is impossible for Him.

Always have your feet firmly planted on the ground and stay humble. Don't look down on others, no matter how less well-off they appear. Remember, the one you look down on today might be the person you have to look up to tomorrow. Such is life!

Always have kind words for others. Be a positive influence, motivate and empower people rather than pick on the negative always. Compliment them and mean it. Be sincere. Your words can impact others years from now.

---

Never say you have nothing to give. You always have something to give. It may not look like much to you, but to the Almighty, it is far better than a gift from among the wealthiest around you!

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

When you call out to the Almighty, call out sincerely and with confidence that your call will be answered. Above all, be patient and trust Him.

---

There's always something we want badly in life. Confide in the Almighty. Connect with Him when the world is asleep. Show Him your sincerity.

---

When you treat others with respect, extend a helping hand and spread goodness, you're actually embodying what a true believer is. Keep going!

---

When you're praying for someone, do so wholeheartedly. Pray for goodness and never have bad intent. Each of us needs a prayer in our favour.

Pray for others. Yes. Don't pray only for yourself.
People may be facing struggles they'll never tell you about. So spare a thought. Pray.

We get upset when we expect more from others because we'd be willing to go that extra mile for them. But know that everyone is different.

Your attitude should be the same whether someone's looking or not. Be kind at all times.
Do what's right and always give from your heart.

Get rid of your attachment to material things.
Give what you don't need to charity. You'll find your life calmer and your mind clearer.

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

Speak the truth and mean what you say. Your word is your honour. Too many people make empty promises which they never intend to fulfil!

---

Give without expecting anything in return. That's the beauty of your heart. It's ok if people don't see that. The Almighty keeps count!

---

Don't assume anything about people. They may be going through events you may never have experienced and know nothing about. Be kind always.

---

Don't be selfish and think only about yourself. Be sensitive to the needs of others. If you want them to respect your time, respect theirs!

Everyone wants an increase in wealth. We forget that only good deeds will stay with us, leaving behind our riches and loved ones.

Don't envy people at the top. Because the higher you climb, the harder you fall. So always be humble. It'll help you break the fall gently!

---

Protect yourself from needless harm. Stay low-key and private when everyone else is overexposed. Pray to Him sincerely to guard your heart.

---

Do something nice for someone today. The first to benefit from this is you. You'll feel a sense of comfort and the great reward is from Him!

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

Learn to live within your means and to give without worrying. The Almighty will provide if your intent is good. Prepare for the life to come!

---

Your deeds are weighed according to how sincere you are. Don't waste your good work and effort by putting every bit of it on social media.

---

When you see someone who seems lost in his path, extend help. Don't judge and show arrogance. Speak kind words. Be tolerant. Pray for him.

---

Don't feel like you have to explain your intentions to others. He knows what's in the heart. We're all answerable to Him, not His creation!

When others lie to you, be honest with them.
When they betray your trust, stay truthful. When they're mean, be kind. Stay true to yourself!

Be wary of those who are always bragging about who they are and their connections. The king of the jungle doesn't boast about its power!

The Almighty's not concerned with your skin colour, financial status or anything else, except your sincere efforts to get closer to Him.

Whatever you can give and whenever you can, spend in a good cause. You'll be among the richest and happiest person on Judgement Day!

Don't fret if the world still doesn't know you despite the good you've done! The Almighty knows and the Angels are mentioning you in Paradise.

You'll feel empty for as long as you fill your heart with love of this world. Cultivate love for the Hereafter; it'll fill your heart!

If you want to be happy, learn to give. Give solely for the sake of the Almighty. There's no greater feeling than making someone's day!

---

The Almighty does not consider you superior because of your rank or riches. He looks at your heart, level of piety and your closeness to Him.

Look around for things that the Almighty has blessed you with. Grateful people are happy people. They're less stressed. He'll give you more.

Society will judge you by its own standard. Don't bother with it. The care you've shown, the love you've shared; they matter so much more.

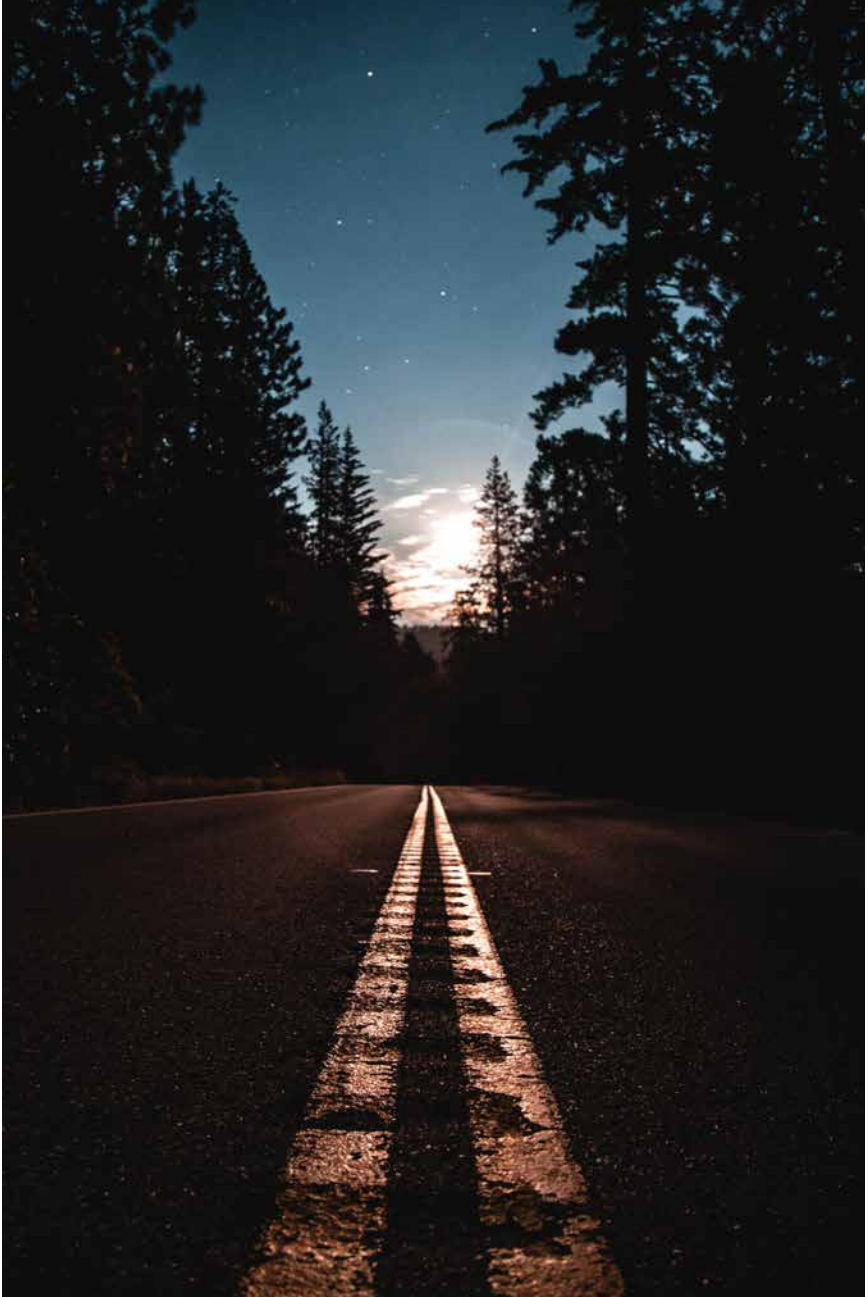

---

There's nothing more dear to the Almighty than the ones who ask Him to fulfill their needs. Don't hold back. Ask sincerely. He knows what's best!

---

Each day we try to be better and get closer to the Almighty. It's not easy. It's a constant struggle against our desires and egos! He knows!

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

Learn to give more than you take. Be humble.
At the end of the day, tread the earth lightly.
Remember, we are nothing without His Mercy!

Don't just be impressed with what's on the outside in people. Look deeper. Look for integrity and sincerity; things that matter in the end.

When you do an act of worship only because the Almighty commanded you and not to show off or gain praise from others, that's the purest form!

The world will trick you into believing its own definition of beauty. But in the end, we'll only remember the most beautiful heart and soul.

Society is so stressed today that it's easy to dismiss people rudely. Remember to be compassionate. Everyone's fighting inner battles.

The one you despise and look down on may be the closest to the Almighty. You never know. Don't fall into the trap. Treat people respectfully.

---

If you want the Almighty's Blessings in your life, show Him that you're firm in faith. You always seek Him. He's above everything else.

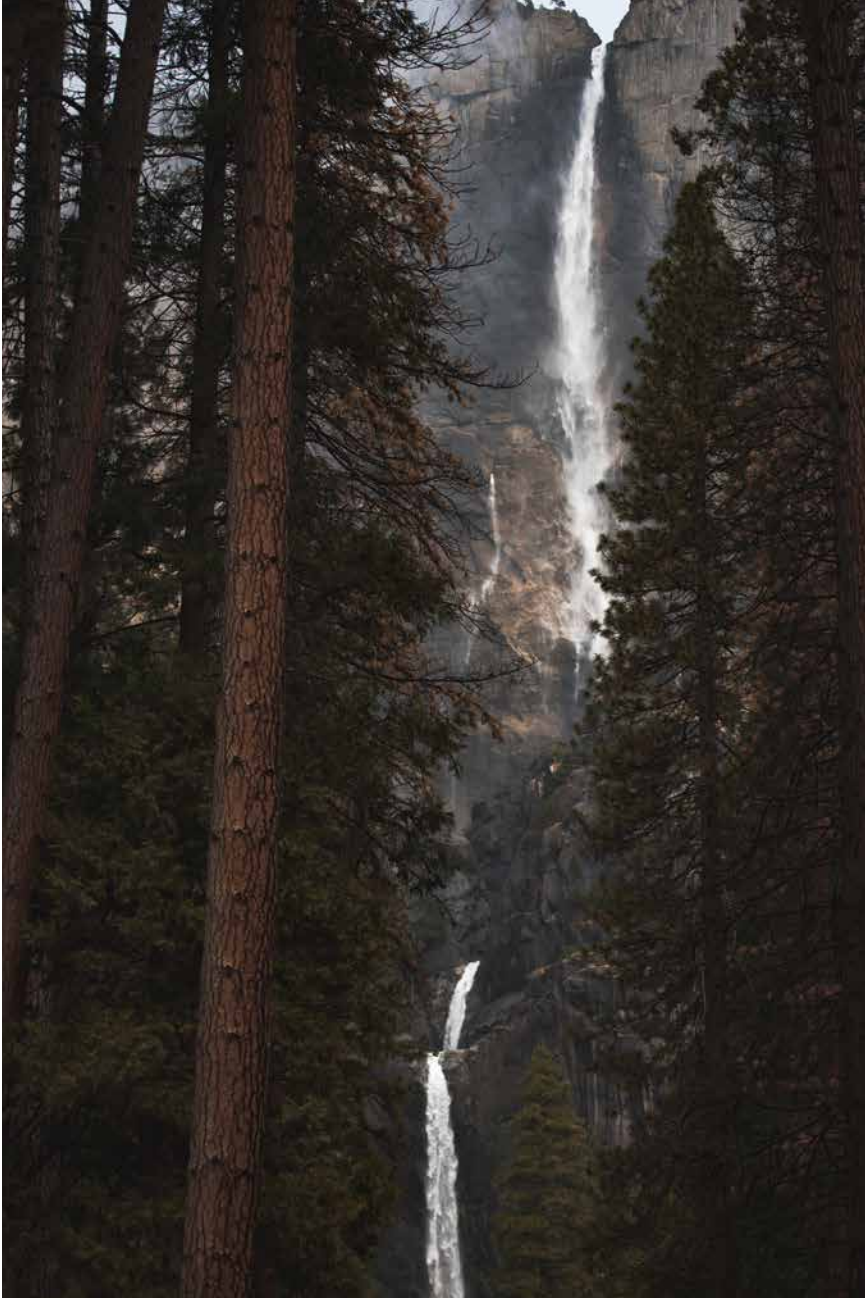

---

The Almighty's the only One who knows what lies in your heart. So don't feel you have to justify yourself to anyone. Only He matters!

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

Be wary of arrogance. Only the humble can get close to the Almighty and realise that they're nothing without Him. The minute arrogance takes root in your heart, a barrier forms; a barrier between you and your Creator. Humble yourself for Him and He will raise you.

---

The Almighty may test you to see if you're really true to your word or do you just pay lip service. Do your actions speak as loud as your words? Practise what you preach and He will raise you in status.

---

When you submit fully to the Almighty, don't be surprised if He tests you with tough times and challenges. These are the things that bring you closer to Him. Show Him sincerely that you're worthy of His Paradise!

Be charitable. It doesn't just mean giving money.
Smile, remove whatever's troubling someone, speak good words. Your heart will be happy!

Keep your good deeds between you and the Almighty. Don't show them off in public to win praise. He knows what lies in your heart. Purify it!

Never tire of doing good; no matter how small the act. Remember, at times all someone needs is a hand to hold and a heart that understands!

Don't look at material possessions and form your opinion of others. That's shallow. If you're worried about it, the problem lies with YOU!

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS II

What you show of yourself, in front of others for the world to see, should be no different from the way you live your life away from the public glare. If you have a different set of rules behind closed doors, then you have a problem that needs to be addressed.

When serving people, we can't afford to be selfish.

The wisest decisions are those made knowing what's going on around you. Peace, stability and positive growth cannot be achieved when we think of ourselves only.

Beware the toxic "friends" who will never compliment you. They'll never have a good word or congratulate you on your achievements. In fact, they're much more likely to kick you when you're down. It's always about them. They'll drain you of all your energy! Keep your distance!

REPENTANCE

Stop overthinking. Stop feeding your mind negative thoughts and self doubt. Love yourself enough and remember He only wants the best for you.

Don't be too quick to share pictures of your success. Many don't like it and are likely to become jealous. Be humble and avoid the limelight.

Satan always wants you to feel depressed and defeated.

Quit feeling that way.
Pick yourself up. Turn to the Almighty and walk in His Path.

Whatever position you have in life, be humble. Don't compare yourself to others. It's the Almighty who raises you, not people around you!

Nobody has a perfect past. We all sin. So don't let that come between you and the Almighty. He is waiting to forgive. He loves it when you ask and repent and depend on Him. That's our Lord. Our Creator!

Don't wait to repent. Don't listen to the whispering of Satan. Don't let your trickle of sin become an ocean of regret. That's foolish because the Almighty is always there to welcome you back on His Path. You only have to connect with Him. Ask Him. Sincerely.

Death can come anytime.
It doesn't matter if you're healthy or wealthy, you'll have to go when it's time.
You can't challenge or avoid it!

Don't attach yourself too closely to people and things.
Nothing lasts. Not even our problems and worries.
Think of Hereafter. You'll find peace.

No matter how much you've sinned, don't let the guilt take you away from remembering the Almighty.
Ask Him sincerely for forgiveness.

No matter how much the heart aches and the soul feels like it has been torn apart, if you have faith in Him, you'll survive.
Nothing lasts.

Almighty, keep our hearts soft and protect them from hardening. Shower us with Your Mercy, such that when we commit a sin, we feel the need to repent!

We often carry our broken hearts to people, reveal to them our problems, only to be hurt even more. Confide in the One who heals the hearts.

Do you sometimes feel like everyone is letting you down? The Almighty puts such people in your life to teach you to depend only on Him.

Whatever you're going through, nobody will understand your true situation until it actually happens to them. So confide in the All-Knowing.

No matter how bad your day is going, you have no excuse to treat others badly. Check yourself now because it's wrong and needs to stop. Don't be the cause of someone else's suffering and misery. Be the better person and always treat others the way you'd like to be treated.

The more successful you are, the more humble you should be. Don't try to show your greatness because greatness belongs solely to the Almighty.

Recognise this. Submit to Him and show humility. You'll earn closeness to Him and His special Mercy!

Never leave the Almighty out of the equation.
And think of death often too. It will humble you. It will soften your heart. It will remind you not to be sad about worldly matters. Remember, this life is temporary. It will come to an end!

Always start your day with prayer. It will set you on the right course and really helps you cope better with unexpected things that may occur. And don't forget to end it with prayer too, for no one knows if you'll wake to another day.

Think of death often; the moment you're alone in your grave with only your deeds. It would be too late to wish if only you had done more.

No matter how prepared you are, death will come unannounced. Live each day doing good, before you're trapped with your deeds in the grave.

When you know you've hurt someone, be quick to make amends. They can cry and complain to the Almighty because of the pain you've caused them!

Just because something happens to shake your faith doesn't mean it should break your faith. The Almighty is watching you.
Keep going.

Never tire of telling the Almighty your problems.
He cares, He listens, He understands and He doesn't give up on you; unlike some people.

Your heart may have been stabbed by hurtful words from careless people. You're in pain. Comfort and soothe yourself with the Almighty's words.

Don't despise or hurt others. You may seem powerful today but things can change in the blink of an eye. Reflect and stay humble. Thank Him.

Almighty. You know everything about us, our weakness, our needs. We seek help from only You. Help us bear beautiful patience when tested.

We worry about what will happen tomorrow, next month, next year. It never ends. Focus on now, the present. Work to get closer to Him!

If you feel like you've reached the end of the road and want to give up, think of the hundreds of times you've failed and yet His Mercy remains.

Almighty, our sins are countless but Your Mercy is limitless. Forgive us. Do not shame us on the Day that matters most. We need Your Shade!

We work so hard to make everyone else happy with us, yet, some people will still find it not good enough. Please the Almighty instead.

Hopelessness is a great sin. It's often the result of ignorance of the greatness of the Almighty. One should never give in to despair. Even in the worst case scenario, there's a glimmer of hope in the heart. Always remember His Infinite Mercy. He will never turn anyone away.

No matter what you're going through in life, learn to put your trust in the Almighty. Confess to Him, confide in Him, cry to Him, plead with Him. Bit by bit your life will change. This world will matter less to you. You'll get closer to Him.

When things around you don't seem to make sense, perhaps the best thing to do is to say nothing. Just pray. The Almighty's in full control.

Learn to be at peace with yourself for not being perfect. Don't hide behind a mask. Empty your heart out and tell Him your fears and doubts.

When you feel let down by those closest to you, don't despair. The Almighty won't let you down. Get even closer to Him in your low moments.

Hold on tight to your prayers. Don't let go because they repel the evils of this world. When done properly, they're a source of peace!

Whatever you do in life, remember to always stay within the limits set by the Almighty. Whatever you may achieve without these limits becomes a sin. It's temporary and short-lived. It will never be worth it in the end.

Breaking a promise is a serious sin. It's a sin that sows the seed of hypocrisy in the heart of the one who commits it. Some are in the habit of doing this often. Don't take it lightly. They'll be raised with the hypocrites on the Day of Judgment!

If you want to repent, do it now. If you want to change, start now. Don't wait for the perfect moment. Don't waste the time He has given us!

Don't expose your soul to rubbish and expect to have a smooth life. Music. Porn. Foul language. Be careful what you feed your inner self.

Value your friends who bring you closer to the Almighty. Learn to let go of relationships that create a distance between you and Him.

Don't lose the link with your Maker. Focus on your daily prayers. Fix them. Perfect them. Put your full trust in Him. He won't let you down.

The root of all diseases of the heart is our love and attachment to this materialistic world. We know this world is temporary, yet we find it so hard to disengage from it. May the Almighty guide our hearts into desiring what is lasting - the Hereafter.

If the Almighty has chosen to guide you, be thankful. Remember, He guides whom He wills and it's His Mercy that has enveloped you. Thank Him. Don't look down on those who have deviated from His path. He can change their situation any time!

Keep repenting. Ask for His forgiveness. Ask Him sincerely not to punish us for past sins and present ones; what we've forgotten or overlooked.

Take your problems to the Almighty not to others. Your worry, fear, anxiety, weaknesses; pour out to Him in humility. Wait for the results.

Almighty, we ask You to renew our hearts with strength and purpose. Forgive our past sins and help us get closer to You. Guide us always!

When you experience pain, cherish it instead of grieving about it. It's the Almighty's way of showing His presence in our lives.

Let us be honest with ourselves. We all do foolish things from time to time. We do things we know we shouldn't but nothing we do is beyond the Almighty's everlasting Mercy. Remember, we may make mistakes, but He doesn't.

When you're still aware that you've sinned and conscious of your shortcomings, know that it's a blessing from the Almighty. He's watching, waiting for you to turn back to Him. Strive to get back on track. Don't procrastinate. Start now.

Let go of stress and worry.
Hand it to the Almighty.
There's no need for anxiety and panic attack.
Supplicate. Ask Him. He'll get you out of it.

There's beauty in pain.
We connect better with the Almighty when we're in pain than when we're content. That's how He draws us closer.

You're messing up so much.
Satan whispers that you should give up because you're not worthy. Don't give in. Call out to the Almighty by His Mercy.

Life goes on, with or without you. So don't worry about what others say about you. Work towards pleasing your Maker. Our days are numbered.

The trouble with us is we let our hearts harden
after we've been wronged.
Keep your heart pure and soft, no matter what. He'll reward you!

No matter how much material gains you make in this world, if your heart is not connected to the Almighty, your happiness is temporary.

If you feel bad after you've sinned, take heart. There's hope. It shows the Almighty wants you to get up and get back on the right track again.

Be wary of the heart that has become hard. Keep repenting. Move closer to the Almighty. Cry out of fear for the sins you have committed.

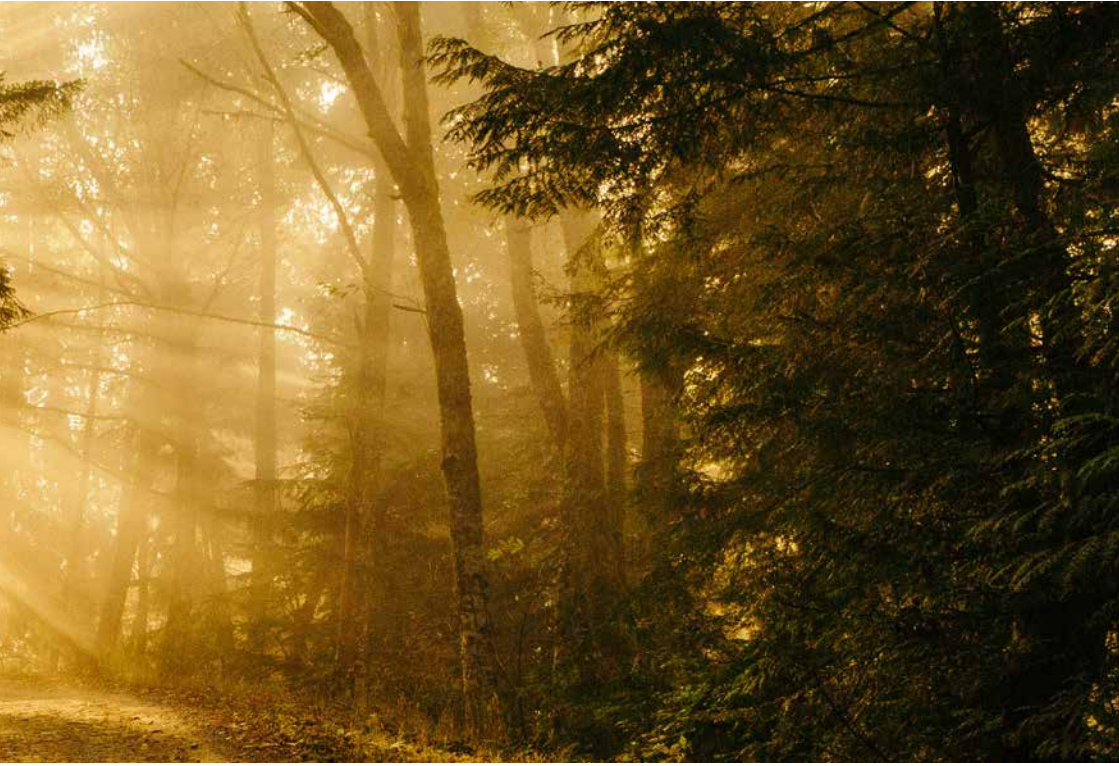

Make a promise to the Almighty you want to do better than what you did yesterday. He will forgive you for that which has already passed.

If you like to expose the fault of others with the intent to shame them or show up their weakness, beware. He knows and will deal with you.

Begin your day with prayer, end it with prayer.
Everything in between will fall into place. You'll feel a sense of calm, your heart at ease.

Nothing is too small or too big for the Almighty.
Just ask Him. He never gets bored listening to your prayer. He loves it when you seek Him.

Be wary of the company you keep. They could be the cause of your unhappiness. If they're overly focused on appearance, trappings of this world and social media, you could slowly be drawing yourself away from what should be the centre of your life, the Almighty.

If you want positive change, check your actions and what you're doing about them. There's no way you can expect change by sitting around and blaming others or the Almighty. What are the same things you've been doing, over and over, that have made you stuck in a rut? Start changing them.

If you've been blessed with wealth, thank the Almighty.

But be sure to keep the wealth in your hand and not in your heart. Give to please Him.

Whatever you do today, resist the urge to gossip and speak negative words about people. Take your concerns to the Almighty and pray for them.

The most fortunate person isn't he who has worldly wealth but he who is quick to repent, seeks forgiveness and feels regret for all his sins.

That moment we allow ourselves to depend on others, that's the moment we will find ourselves being disappointed. Depend on the Almighty.

Never fear failure. It teaches us valuable lessons.
It can change our lives.
It lets us taste humility;
the best time to get close to Him.

If you don't want to be let down or disappointed, stop chasing wealth and people. Attach your heart to the One who created you.
You'll find ease.

Don't keep overlooking your small sins. It's dangerous to think that they don't add up. Like pebbles, they can soon turn into mountains.

Don't be among those, who when faced with a test, their first reaction is to abandon prayer. Prayer is precisely what's needed in hardship.

Stop chasing wealth, fame and temporary things in life. You'll end up disappointed. The true source of happiness is the Almighty. Focus on Him!

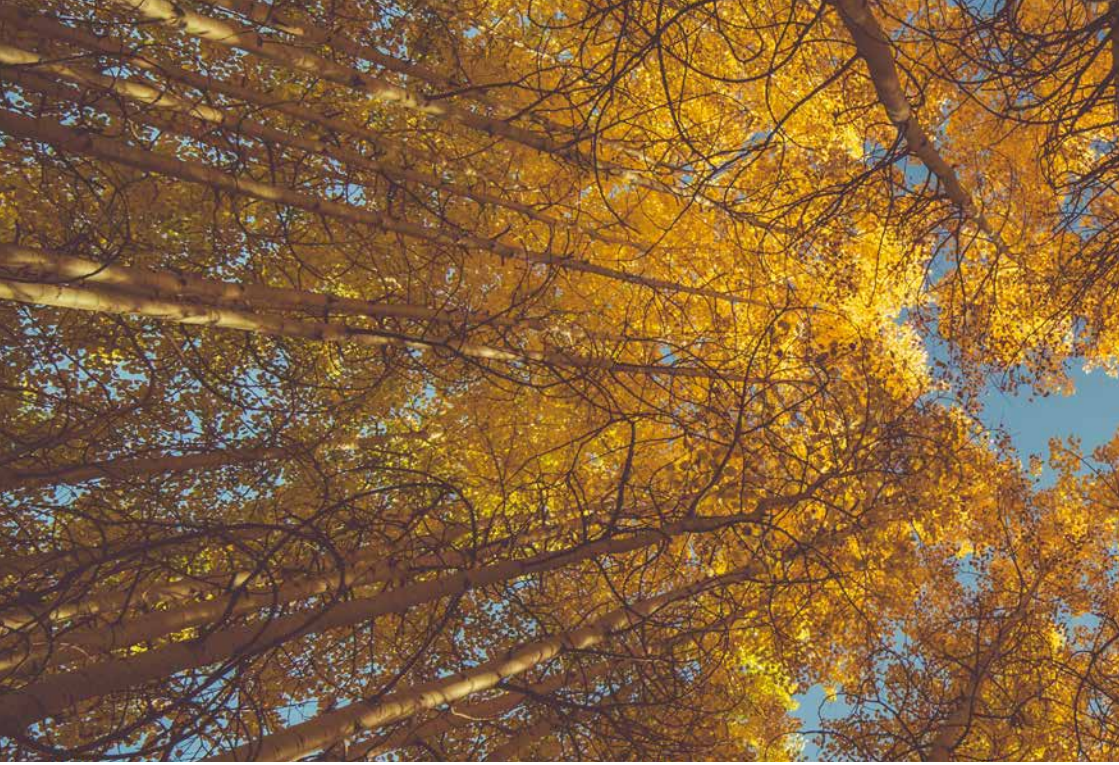

Never feel like the Almighty is getting tired of you. So even if you've been sinning repeatedly, repent. He loves it when you repent.

We all want happiness. So give thanks when blessed. Be patient in trials. Repent and seek forgiveness when sinful. Watch your life change.

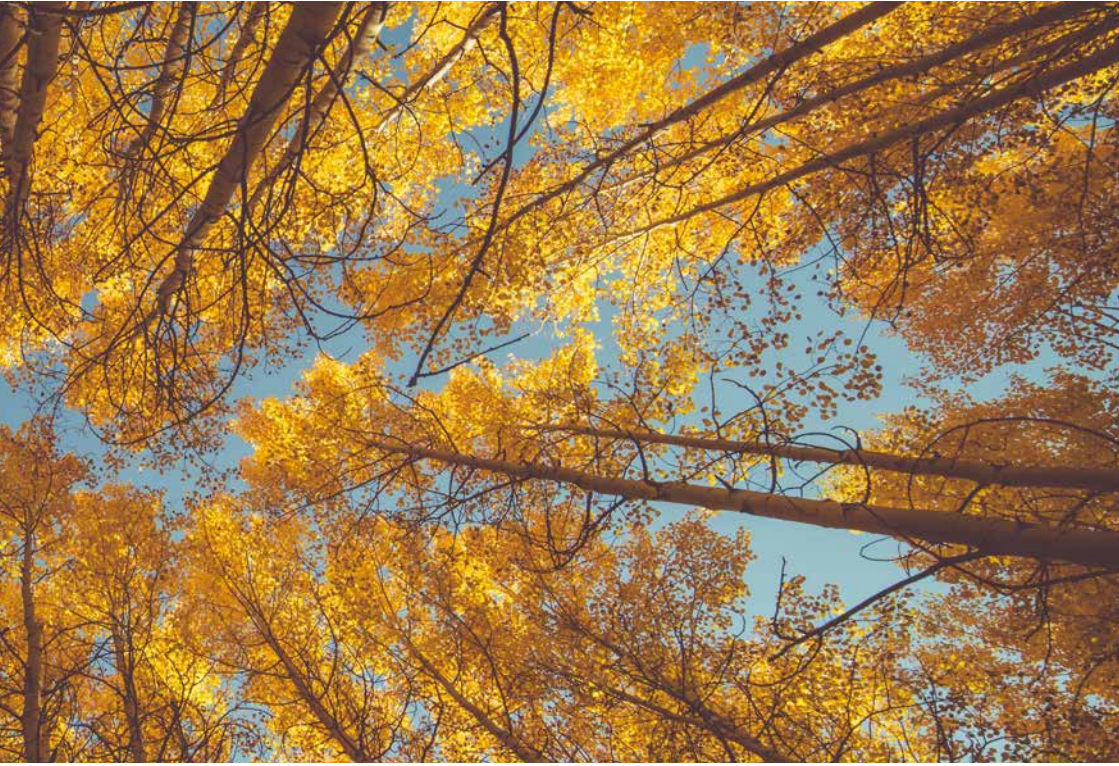

Never lose hope in His Mercy. Never believe that you're too far gone to ask for forgiveness. He knows your struggle. He created you!

Almighty. No matter how busy and stressful our lives are, let us always set aside time for You, time to seek Your Mercy and Forgiveness.

Don't keep saying "one day I'll repent and change my ways." Satan loves it when you delay. Make it today instead and seek His forgiveness.

Don't forget the Almighty created us for His Mercy.
He can erase your past, your regrets and free you from the wrong you've done.
Ask Him.

Making mistakes isn't the end of the road. There's life after that if we learn from it. Seek Him. He can change your life for the better.

Don't be over confident.
A true believer is always working hard to do more to please His Maker. Always be humble and have hope in His Mercy.

You started out wrong.
You're ashamed of your past. Don't dwell on self-pity. Take charge if you want sincere change. He will guide you.

Don't let arrogance breed in your heart. No matter how beautiful your home, king or beggar will end up in the same grave of soil in the end.

When you strive in the way of the Almighty, you don't worry about being accepted or having the approval of others. You know your priority.

Keep repenting and asking for His forgiveness. Don't let droplets of sins become rivers of regret. Be sincere and ask Him with your heart!

Many are so careful with their health and wealth, going to great lengths to protect it. But sadly, they neglect the state of their hearts.

Do you feel hollow inside?
Something seems to be missing in your life though you seem to have a lot. Turn to Him and watch your life change.

It happens so often; people go out of their way to look for faults in others.
Everyone has an opinion about you. Focus on the Creator!

We take the blessing of time for granted, forgetting that time is life. Once gone, you won't get it back. Wake up before it's too late!

Despite all that's going on, don't let hatred harden you. Think of Him, His blessings and the less fortunate. That should soften your heart.

Everyone of us has the same access to the Almighty, king or commoner. As long as we seek Him, He's there for us always!

Be wary of hurting others.
The one you hurt could be loved by the Almighty.
You don't want to incur His wrath and waste your good deeds.

Amidst all the goings-on, learn to step away from the chaos of life. Reconnect your soul with your Creator. Your heart will find peace!

Always be alert and exercise self-control. Satan will tempt us in every possible way. Make it difficult for him to get us to do what is wrong!

We want to be connected all the time. The minute we lose it, we get anxious, even angry. What about the vital connection with our Creator?

Work on your desires, doubts and arrogance - the root of diseases of the heart. Cleanse it till it's able to "see" what's good, pure and true!

The more wealth you accumulate, the higher the likelihood that you'll become preoccupied with this world, neglecting your link with your Maker. You may also become addicted to the wealth. Diseases of the heart such as bragging and showing off may then result!

Money is important, for sure. But you don't have to go crazy over it. The Almighty has written it down for you, there is no need for you to lie, cheat, deceive, resort to fraud practices, abuse the rights of others just to make some extra bucks. Greed doesn't pay!

We have all experienced a broken heart. But we don't have to be imprisoned by the pain. We can hide the suffering from others but not the One who made us. Call out to the Almighty, who understands our hearts even better than we do.

Nothing is guaranteed in this life, except death.
So don't delay asking for forgiveness. Each night, before you go to bed, clear your slate with the Almighty. You'll never know if you will live to see the next day.

Whatever you're facing now, only the Almighty will understand it. Don't bother explaining to someone else. Be patient. It'll be worth it!

Beware the ones who are so overtaken by their own arrogance and ego that they forget to make amends and mend ties with the people they've hurt.

If your friends are stopping you from getting close to the Almighty, they're not for you. Real friends want the best of both worlds for you.

Instead of being busy with online chats, let us keep busy with building a connection with the Almighty. This life's way too short to waste!

Don't abuse and play pranks on animals to hurt them. Like you, they're creatures of the Almighty. They deserve our respect and care as well.

Beware those who gossip about others. They point out flaws in people to make them feel good about themselves. They'll only end up miserable.

The fact is your behaviour shows your character. So if someone gossips TO you, be sure they'll also be gossiping ABOUT you behind your back.

Be wary of greed. It keeps you wanting even more. Whatever you acquire will never be enough; leading to ill will, jealousy and hatred.

If you've been blessed with more in this life, find ways to give it back to those who need it more. Do understand the Almighty's Plan. He did not bless you just so you can sit on what you have. He showed you a favour so you could go ahead and create ease for others.

Don't wish ill on others. It can come back to you in the most unimaginable way. Always want good for people and you'll end up being blessed. Cultivate a good heart. Purify your thoughts. Remember, the Almighty loves those who do good.

Don't be overly dependent on others. People will disappoint you again and again. Start relying on the Almighty. See how He brings people who can enrich you into your life. Trust His Plan and see how your life changes.

Remember, the Almighty is the Most Merciful and always ready to forgive. So don't think of giving up each time you fall back into sin. Instead, think of why you should start over and try again. You'll get there!

No matter how you look at it, when you speak ill of others, you'll be on the losing end. All that time spent in sinful conversation could be converted into good deeds, if the same amount of time was used in remembering the Almighty.

Truthfulness is a rare commodity these days. So many people don't want the truth. They're happy in their comfort zone. They're willing to tolerate all kinds of lies and wouldn't do anything to change it. Remember, we will be answerable to the Almighty when the time comes!

YOUR QUOTES

If you judged yourself as much as you judged others, you would have been the best version of yourself by now.

URUK HASSAN

When someone is behaving unjustly to you, find peace in the truth of the situation, knowing that the Almighty is enough as a witness.

AMMA M. ALEE

Optimism is a necessary mindset for the believer. Nothing is impossible for the Almighty. He can change your condition in the blink of an eye. Show optimism by refusing to stop asking Him and always assuming the best.

ABAS IDRIS

You can never convince everyone to accept your opinion, even if it is the truth. Someone will eventually deny you, perhaps even without a reason. Don't worry. The Almighty's acceptance is sufficient.

ABDULLAH ZAHEED

Want less than what you need, your heart will feel fuller. Give more than what you receive, your heart will feel lighter. Appreciate the Almighty's blessings to feel the true essence of His Mercy.

EMA KHAN

There is nothing wrong with failure. Sometimes we need it to happen so we can take a step back from a situation in order to reassess, reevaluate and try again to achieve success

FATHIMA

Life is a miracle! We often endure challenges and in the end, we overcome the negativity. Just breathe in and out and feel the freshness and the beauty of life. Look around you. Smile and know that you are never alone.

FADILA MOOLLA

Being brave isn't just about facing your fears. It is also about facing your pride and your desires. If you can successfully overcome these things, then you are one of the bravest persons in this world, for this world is full of cowards.

MUHAMMAD

You have the strength to move mountains, never be afraid of the hills up ahead.

NAADIRA RASHID

Secret charity is enough to turn a road filled with thorns into a bed full of scented roses.

THAUHEEDA THAMEEM

No matter what, people will always have something to say. So just do what's right which makes you proud of yourself. You'll end up with a huge smile on your face and that's priceless!

OUASSIM ARZOUK

The wind does not blow to make the trees dance, rather it does so to test their roots. Likewise, calamities happen not to make us grieve, rather to test our patience.

MARIAM SYMA HANYF

When all you see are shadows and darkness, know that the light you need is in your heart.
The Almighty illuminates a way out beyond anything you could have planned or imagined.

FARAH AHMED

Not a leaf falls but He knows. Do you really think He is unaware of your heart? Seek comfort through patience and prayer. Indeed the Almighty's help is near.

MARYAM KHATTAK

Smiling is contagious, so live your life filled with smiles. Have faith and be strong, for every fall you experience will only make you wiser and firmer. Overcome your fear and have trust in the One who created you.

MAHMOUD TAHAN

The beauty within this world is but a mere illusion, death is inevitable and so is our return to our Lord. With that in mind, don't live life heedlessly and neglect the true purpose of existence!

SHUHENA BEGUM

Never assume that every critic is a hater. Some people are telling you the truth because they want you to become a better person. It's up to you to change.

HAFIZA MARYAM DAHIR

The most valuable currencies in the world are kindness and respect and yet they are free. Both loved, appreciated and accepted by all of creation and the Creator above all.

RAHAT ALI

Sometimes you get results, sometimes you don't.
You just have to walk away knowing you tried your best and let the Almighty handle the rest.

SHAIKH SHAFEE

It is not strange that I love You because I am a weak servant, but it is strange that You love me when You are the King of Kings!
